I really try to keep my personal workspace as tidy as possible. I really believe there's a place for everything and everything in its place, as the cliché goes.

~Khoi Vinh

Even though the means of production are more available than ever, I think the true expertise is as rare as ever.

~Khoi Vinh

I think design does evolve in a meaningful sense. I think if you look at design as a part of the continuum of communication, since even before Guttenberg.

~Khoi Vinh

You have to have a balance and understand that as much as you would like to have absolute control over everything, it's just not realistic.

~Khoi Vinh

I think now we're seeing the pendulum switch back to this idea where conversations are more important, if not more important than documents.

~Khoi Vinh

Designers from start to finish now in digital media have to think in a much more sort of thoughtful serious and humble way about how design audiences will receive their products.

~Khoi Vinh

I think the key difference between the web and print medium is, on the web or any digital medium, you're dealing with this added element of behavior.

~Khoi Vinh

Even though more people can build websites today than even 10 years ago, I think there's probably even less really deep understand of how a good website gets built than there was even then.

~Khoi Vinh

The way I look at my job, I spend a lot of time trying to create the conditions for good design to happen and I don't get an opportunity to do a lot of hands on work.

~Khoi Vinh

I think there's always something about design that is going to be very difficult for more than a small fraction of people to really get.

~Khoi Vinh

I have a few memories of being young here in the United States, but almost no recollections of being young in Vietnam.

~Khoi Vinh

I think I sort of have a love/hate relationship with a reputation I have for being the designer who works with grids.

~Khoi Vinh

I think the thing about the Internet is that it has so many characteristics that can be easily construed to be similar or almost identical to print that it can be misleading.

~Khoi Vinh

I think the obstacles are the same as the opportunities, is the way we like to look at them.
