It is true that no one can harm the person who wears armor. But no one can help him either.

~Kristin Hunter

Everyone of us is a wonder. Everyone of us has a story.

~Kristin Hunter

First it is necessary to stand on your own two feet. But the minute a man finds himself in that position, the next thing he should do is reach out his arms.

~Kristin Hunter

...one of my motivating forces has been to recreate the world I know into a world I wish I could be in. Hence my optimism and happy endings.

~Kristin Hunter

The boys think they can all be athletes, and the girls think they can all be singers. That's the way to fame and success. ...as a group blacks must give up their illusions.

~Kristin Hunter

I sometimes think humor and satire are more effective techniques for expressing social statements than direct comment.

~Kristin Hunter

it is amazing how all our paths of rebellion tend to lead us straight back home.

~Kristin Hunter

Writing is harder than anything else; at least starting to write is.

~Kristin Hunter

When you get up in the morning, you merely put on your clothes. When a colored man gets up in the morning, he puts on his armor.

~Kristin Hunter

I marvel at the many ways we, as black people, bend but do not break.

~Kristin Hunter

The most amazing thing about little children ... was their fantastic adaptability.

~Kristin Hunter

I marvel at the many ways we, as black people, bend but do not break in order to survive. This astonishes me, and what excites me I write about. Everyone of us is a wonder. Everyone of us has a story.

~Kristin Hunter

I have never felt a placard and a poem are in any way similar.

~Kristin Hunter

I hate, loathe, and despise Christmas. It's a time when single people have to take cover or get out of town.
