The workers should take over the factories, and shut down Boeing's profit-making machine.

~Kshama Sawant

We need a break from Capitalism.

~Kshama Sawant

There are limits to reforming a system that is dominated by these massive and rapacious corporations.

~Kshama Sawant

While we still live in a capitalist society, we of course will fight for whatever reforms help make life better for working people.

~Kshama Sawant

It's not just an economic crisis that capitalism has created. We also face an environmental catastrophe created by a handful of gigantic fossil fuel corporations.

~Kshama Sawant

Today, capitalism faces a deep structural crisis.

~Kshama Sawant

Big business has many tools to make us pay for the crisis of their system.

~Kshama Sawant

Bernie Sanders says that the biggest banks that dominate the economy should be broken up into smaller banks. This would be far more radical than Hillary Clinton's proposals to regulate Wall Street.

~Kshama Sawant

We've seen the weakest economic recovery since World War II, and massive levels of inequality and debt.

~Kshama Sawant

Bernie Sanders has shown that socialism is no longer the barrier that it used to be during the Cold War.

~Kshama Sawant

On the basis of capitalism, victories like raising the minimum wage are only temporary.

~Kshama Sawant

This is what happens under capitalism - as long as corporations and the super rich own the economy and the politicians, every new generation has to fight hard just to defend itself.

~Kshama Sawant

Like the healthcare industry, the banks should be taken out of the hands of the 1% and brought under democratic public ownership.

~Kshama Sawant

Socialism is a society where the resources are used democratically to provide a better life for all, based on ending the dictatorship of big business over the economy and politics.

~Kshama Sawant

Capitalism is based on ruthless exploitation and competition, and leads inevitably to the development of mega monopolies.

~Kshama Sawant

Big Oil, Wall Street and big business as a whole - they stand in the way of the kinds of change needed. They are fiercely against the radical reforms Bernie Sanders is popularizing.

~Kshama Sawant

For a whole historic period after World War II, US capitalism was the strongest in the world and could afford to concede rising living standards.

~Kshama Sawant

We have a rotting infrastructure that is literally poisoning children in Flint, Newark and elsewhere.
