It's beneficial to play against your type; to be chameleon-like.

~Laura Carmichael

My history teacher was utterly terrifying, but her lessons were very inspiring. She got me interested in people and stories, which then led me to acting.

~Laura Carmichael

I've not sat with my agent going: 'Where is the next hopeless girl I can play?' They just come along.

~Laura Carmichael

When I'm in a tricky situation I often think: 'What would Beyonce do?' It helps.

~Laura Carmichael

When I emerge from filming I feel slightly out of synch with real life, but it's also a relief.

~Laura Carmichael

I cry at films and TV and even adverts.

~Laura Carmichael

I have such a huge girl crush on Beyonce.

~Laura Carmichael

I'm from Southampton.

~Laura Carmichael

You have to have sympathy for and an empathy with a character in order to play them.

~Laura Carmichael

In the U.K., there is a sort of obsession with class.

~Laura Carmichael

I'm not recognised much at all.

~Laura Carmichael

I think it must be so hard to start your career with everyone going on about how gorgeous you are. To be in that bracket must be so pressurised.

~Laura Carmichael

I don't really get recognised very much.

~Laura Carmichael

As actors, you play people who are not yourselves!

~Laura Carmichael

I certainly never saw myself as posh.

~Laura Carmichael

Being at home is a job in itself and raising a family for sure.

~Laura Carmichael

The Twenties have this sort of attitude where you never know whats around the corner.

~Laura Carmichael

Id love to work in the States; Id love to work anywhere where you get a good script and a good part to play. But I do love British film as well.

~Laura Carmichael

No one goes through life thinking that theyre the best friend of the lead character.

~Laura Carmichael

I did all sorts of jobs after drama school - working in a bar, as a teaching assistant. I probably learned as much from them as I did at drama school.
