That I am your heart's secret fills me with song. I wish I could sing of you here in my cage. You are my heart's hidden poem. I reread you, memorize you every moment we're apart.

~Laura Whitcomb

I would do anything to stay beside you forever.

~Laura Whitcomb

Your mind will never lose anything forever that's worth keeping.

~Laura Whitcomb

I had asked her for help, and she had sent me to the lions. I knew that she was trying to save her little girl, but sometimes mothers with the best intentions kill their daughters all the same.

~Laura Whitcomb

Like a glimpse of eternity instantly forgotten. She is gone.

~Laura Whitcomb

Those who cry to be young again should think twice before they seal those prayers.

~Laura Whitcomb

...You deserve to be happy. What can I do?" Don't send me away, I thought. He looked at me again. "What do you want?" "I want to taste an apple," I said. And your lips, I thought.

~Laura Whitcomb

It's hard to have you with me but not to be able to take your hand or kiss you -James

~Laura Whitcomb

Books are boring," James said as he wrote. "They line the walls like a thousand leather doorways to be opened into worlds unknown," I offered.

~Laura Whitcomb

I couldn't take my eyes off him. Like a desert wanderer afraid of mirages, I gazed at my oasis, but he was real.

~Laura Whitcomb

i would court you with passion, if things were different. you'd never get me off your porch swing.

~Laura Whitcomb

he was watching me and when our eyes met, i had no fan to cover my face, no way to hid my feelings. i was desperate for him, and he could see it, all the way in me.

~Laura Whitcomb

i felt my being flutter. each tousled head that came through the door i wanted to be his, but no and on, a dozen boys entered, yet not the one.

~Laura Whitcomb

To desperately hope," I whispered James let out a breath. "To gratefully believe.

~Laura Whitcomb

Someone was looking at me, a disturbing sensation if you're dead.
