Perspective is the most important thing to have in life.

~Lauren Graham

Belly buttons are cool!

~Lauren Graham

Today is the day you have to start believing in yourself. No one can do it for you anymore.

~Lauren Graham

I must work harder to achieve my goal of not seeking approval from those whose approval I'm not even sure is important to me.

~Lauren Graham

Be truthful, say what you mean and mean what you say, don't ignore the given circumstances.

~Lauren Graham

I have to introduce the part of me that feels like a winner to the part of me convinced I'm a loser, and see if they can't agree to exist somewhere closer to the middle.

~Lauren Graham

You may be sensitive inside, but what I see on the outside is a soldier.

~Lauren Graham

I've made out more this season on a family-friendly show than ever in my actual life.

~Lauren Graham

If I had a normal job and had been moving up, I'd be management level now.

~Lauren Graham

Texting is not flirting, if you don't care about me enough to say the words than that's not love, I don't like it!

~Lauren Graham

Maybe I should sit. Plenty of people use sitting as a way to pass the time.

~Lauren Graham

The best you can hope for is a great collaborator.

~Lauren Graham

The thing you must really do in television is bring yourself to everything you do - you can't try to be anybody else.

~Lauren Graham

Growing up an only child with a single parent is probably why I'm an actor.

~Lauren Graham

I've spent a lot of time wondering, What's going to happen? What's going to happen? I try not to allow myself to do that much anymore. I think ive gotten more comfortable with the unknown.

~Lauren Graham

My mother had lived in London since I was little, so she never got to see my school plays and stuff.

~Lauren Graham

Some people think my father was a spy, because of working for that government agency in Vietnam, but he can't find his car keys, much less keep a national secret.

~Lauren Graham

Moving. Someone said this to me a long time ago, it's bhuddist saying, I think: 'There is no wasted effort'.

~Lauren Graham

It's great to have an acting job in the age of Reality TV.

~Lauren Graham

Personally, all I ever want to be wearing are jeans.

~Lauren Graham

All TV shows are basically part of the same storyline.

~Lauren Graham

There's nothing more important than a good story.

~Lauren Graham

I just don't know that a TV show demands a movie ending.

~Lauren Graham

I love TV. I think I'd do a half-hour single-camera comedy.

~Lauren Graham

I would like to be part of a family, however that looks. Family is really important to me.

~Lauren Graham

I've dated people who I thought were going to be a big deal in my life, and I've also spent long periods by myself.

~Lauren Graham

The thing I don't like on television is when somebody does something that makes absolutely no sense just for the shock of it.

~Lauren Graham

I take the no-doughnut pledge, and then I break it.

~Lauren Graham

Well, it's more of a sane life to be part of an ensemble! I find that the work can be more specific too and I have to really make sure I know where I am in the story because I'm not in every scene.

~Lauren Graham

Actors should ACT. Not sell perfume, or write cookbooks.

~Lauren Graham

Once again, I've been thwarted by the massive difference between my vision of the successful me and the me I'm currently stuck with.

~Lauren Graham

Anyone can smile on their best day. I like to meet a man who can smile on his WORST.

~Lauren Graham

I'd pay more just to hear proper English and have everyone keep their clothes on

~Lauren Graham

I'm nice, and I show up on time.

~Lauren Graham

Writing a memoir isn't particularly interesting to me. I'm not like Ellen [DeGeneres], where I can write, 'Water bottles--they're crazy!' and it's funny.

~Lauren Graham

Like my dad, I have a Christmas party most years. I like to celebrate and see as many people as possible.

~Lauren Graham

I didn't grow up identifying with beauty. I grew up thinking I could be smart and funny - those are the things I got feedback on.

~Lauren Graham

None of my characters have really had jobs.

~Lauren Graham

While I very much wanted to be in a relationship, I didn't want to be in the wrong one.

~Lauren Graham

As actors we always say that once the person in a scene gets what they want, the scene is over. It's resolved. But life is never resolved - you're always in the process.

~Lauren Graham

I think there's more pressure to stand out in a way that is measurable externally. The fame culture is definitely way worse and weirder than it was when we were in high school.

~Lauren Graham

All my references are 50 years old-when somebody shot J.R., you know? Oh my god, I'm 100!

~Lauren Graham

Getting anywhere you want is hard work. In this photography culture, everything looks so amazing. But it's actually very hard to get to where anybody gets.

~Lauren Graham

It's also show business. It's not "show fun friends".

~Lauren Graham

When the creator of the show is gone, the actors end up being the people who have been there the longest.

~Lauren Graham

You want the story to end when it's supposed to and not be squeezed for somebody's financial gain.

~Lauren Graham

The parts for women, you're either like the quietly suffering wife or the wild girl.
