

Leigh Bardugo

Quotes

Men, Mean, Character, People, Writing, Arguing, Trying, Smell, Insult, Bricks, Heart, Next, Prayer, Wish, Doe, World, Enemy, Handsome, Impossible, Weakness

When people say impossible, they usually mean improbable.

~Leigh Bardugo

And there's nothing wrong with being a lizard either. Unless you were born to be a hawk.

~Leigh Bardugo

Don't wish for bricks when you can build from stone.

~Leigh Bardugo

Na razrusha'ya.ĭ» ¿ I am not ruined. ĭ» ¿E'ya razrushostĭ» ¿. I am ruination.

~Leigh Bardugo

Yuyeh sesh. Despise your heart. Ni weh sesh. I have no heart.

~Leigh Bardugo

What is infinite? The universe and the greed of men.

~Leigh Bardugo

Weakness is a guise. Wear it when they need to know you're human, but never when you feel it.

~Leigh Bardugo

The ox feels the yoke, but does the bird feel the weight of its wings?

~Leigh Bardugo

There's no such thing as too much champagne. Though your head will try to tell you otherwise tomorrow.

~Leigh Bardugo

I wanted to believe anything so that I wouldn't have to face the future alone. The problem with wanting is that it makes us weak.

~Leigh Bardugo

Oh, and the easiest way to make someone furious is to tell her to calm down.

~Leigh Bardugo

Anything worth doing always starts as a bad idea.

~Leigh Bardugo

I'm perfectly capable of being stupid on my own.

~Leigh Bardugo

Don't argue. Never deign to deny. Meet insults with laughter.

~Leigh Bardugo

I think the first trick to writing a feminist work is to write plenty of women. That way you get to write characters, instead of worrying about paradigms.

~Leigh Bardugo

I like to have powerful enemies. Makes me feel important.

~Leigh Bardugo

People, particularly big men carrying big rifles, don't expect lip from a scrawny thing like me. They always look a bit dazed when they get it.

~Leigh Bardugo

The less you say, the more weight your words will carry.

~Leigh Bardugo

Grief had its own life, took its own sustenance.

~Leigh Bardugo

You and I are going to change the world.

~Leigh Bardugo

But I've also been known to answer to 'sweetheart' or 'handsome.'

~Leigh Bardugo

I had spared the stag's life. The power of that life belonged to me as surely as it belonged to the man who had taken it.

~Leigh Bardugo

Just because you escape one trap, doesn't mean you will escape the next.

~Leigh Bardugo

There was something soothing about the crackle of paper, the smell of ink, and the soft scratching of nibs and brushes.

~Leigh Bardugo

You want a love story too? There's none to be had.

~Leigh Bardugo

Related Links:

- Men Quotes
- Mean Quotes
- Character Quotes
- People Quotes
- Writing Quotes
- Arguing Quotes
- Trying Quotes
- Smell Quotes
- Insult Quotes
- Bricks Quotes
- Heart Quotes
- Next Quotes
- Prayer Quotes
- Wish Quotes
- Doe Quotes
- World Quotes
- Enemy Quotes
- Handsome Quotes
- Impossible Quotes
- Weakness Quotes