

Len Goodman Quotes

People, Want, Thinking, Trying, Children, Car, Realising, Cups, Sleep, Shame, Fall, Common, Like You, Risk, Life Is Precious, Old People, Broken, Play, Multitasking, Life Is

I'm a cup of tea in a world of lattes.

~Len Goodman

The truth is, I've been lucky. But just like the waltz, life has its own rhythm of rise and fall.

~Len Goodman

The thing with children is they're a bit like baking a fruitcake: you throw all the ingredients in but you never know how they're going to turn out.

~Len Goodman

Your money is like your willy, it only grows if you play with it

~Len Goodman

I always think of a show like a plant - a little pruning now and then keeps it healthy, but you shouldn't pull it out and chop the roots up.

~Len Goodman

You got to risk it if you want the biscuit.

~Len Goodman

It's never too early to panic.

~Len Goodman

I won't eat anything I can't spell or wouldn't tread in.

~Len Goodman

I really hate airport queues. I almost feel they should have cattle prods to hurry us up down the aisles. You can't even complain because they might stop you getting on to the flight.

~Len Goodman

I'm a technophobe. I can't crack the iPhone, and the extent of my multitasking is being able to talk while I make a drink.

~Len Goodman

You have to speak your mind, but without being cruel.

~Len Goodman

I'm passionate about old people because I am one myself.

~Len Goodman

I get so annoyed at people not looking after their parents. The deal is when we are growing up they look after us and as they grow older we look after them. That's the deal.

~Len Goodman

I am a little bit of a softie, yes. Actually I don't think it's softness, I think it's kindness.

~Len Goodman

On the dance floor, as much as you say, 'Ladies, you are the car. He is the driver. You can only go where he takes you,' they still try to be in control.

~Len Goodman

I am good in bed - I don't snore. I don't take the duvet. I just lay there and go straight off to sleep. That's all you want out of a bloke.

~Len Goodman

I can't do most things, if I'm honest, but cooking I definitely can't do.

~Len Goodman

I've never really been very good at marriage. It's one of my failures. I've tried my best, but I do realise the common denominator is me; it's something I'm doing.

~Len Goodman

As you get older, things conk out. It's a bit like a car. As long as it's something the mechanics can fix, you can chug on for a few more thousand miles.

~Len Goodman

There are no gentlemen in anything competitive - you want to win.

~Len Goodman

I try to keep myself in the best of company and my horses in the worst of company.

~Len Goodman

Children give life a reason to be - they make life.

~Len Goodman

Obviously you can't please everyone. I'm sure some people say, 'Bloody old Len Goodman gets on my nerves.'

~Len Goodman

Life is precious and relationships are precious. I'm a great believer in family.

~Len Goodman

I've got a great life. It's a shame the work gets in the way of the golf, really.

~Len Goodman

I haven't danced since 1973; I'm too old.

~Len Goodman

Related Links:

- People Quotes
- Want Quotes
- Thinking Quotes
- Trying Quotes
- Children Quotes
- Car Quotes
- Realising Quotes
- Cups Quotes
- Sleep Quotes
- Shame Quotes
- Fall Quotes
- Common Quotes
- Like You Quotes
- Risk Quotes
- Life Is Precious Quotes
- Old People Quotes
- Broken Quotes
- Play Quotes
- Multitasking Quotes
- Life Is Quotes