I went to my doctor and asked for something for persistent wind. He gave me a kite.

~Les Dawson

My wife is a sex object - every time I ask for sex, she objects.

~Les Dawson

I can always tell when the mother in law's coming to stay; the mice throw themselves on the traps.

~Les Dawson

I took the wife's family out for tea biscuits. They weren't too happy about having to give blood though.

~Les Dawson

I saw six men kicking and punching the mother-in-law. My neighbour said 'Are you going to help?' I said 'No, six should be enough.'

~Les Dawson

I went to the doctor last week. I said: 'Can I have some sleeping pills for the wife?' He said: 'Why?' I said: 'She's woke up.'

~Les Dawson

I toyed with the idea of playing Ravel's 'Pavane pour une infante defunte' but I couldn't remember if it's a tune or Latin prescription for piles.

~Les Dawson

My mother-in-law fell down a wishing well. I was amazed; I never knew they worked.

~Les Dawson

My mother-in-law has come round to our house at Christmas seven years running. This year we're having a change. We're going to let her in.

~Les Dawson

My lad chewed and swallowed a dictionary. We gave him Epsom salts - but we can't get a word out of him.

~Les Dawson

A square egg in a dish of lentils won't make a marrow bend with the wind, nor will it make rhubarb grow up the milkmaid's leg.

~Les Dawson

I don't mind what the critics say, so long as I get some reaction. The worst thing is to be ignored.

~Les Dawson

The mother-in-law came round last week. It was absolutely pouring down. So I opened the door and I saw her there and I said, 'Mother, don't just stand there in the rain. Go home.'

~Les Dawson

I've just had some bad news. Tomorrow is the mother in law's funeral. And she's cancelled it.

~Les Dawson

I used to sell furniture for a living. The trouble was, it was my own.

~Les Dawson

There is a remote tribe that worships the number zero. Is nothing sacred?

~Les Dawson

Last year my wife ran off with the fellow next door and I must admit, I still miss him.

~Les Dawson

I'm often accused of saying some pretty rotten things about my mother-in-law. But quite honestly, she's only got one major fault - it's called breathing.

~Les Dawson

The mother-in-law is the centre of a family.

~Les Dawson

The wife's Mother said, 'When you're dead, I'll dance in your grave.' I said: 'Good, I'm being buried at sea'.

~Les Dawson

Everyone has a family tree; the Dawsons have one, it's a weeping willow.

~Les Dawson

I'd like to thank the BBC for allowing me to work here. And I'd like to thank the wife and kids for making it necessary.

~Les Dawson

Take my wife... please. I'm not saying she's ugly, but when she went to see a horror film, the audience thought she was making a personal appearance.

~Les Dawson

With wives, men hide behind the air of bravado, which is basically a defence mechanism, I think. Clever creatures, women. Very clever.

~Les Dawson

I'm not saying my mother didn't like me, but she kept looking for loopholes in my birth certificate.

~Les Dawson

He had ambitions, at one time, to become a sex maniac, but he failed

his practical.

~Les Dawson
