Falling in love was easy.anyone could fall. It was holding on that was tricky

~Liane Moriarty

Those we love don't go away, they sit beside us every day.

~Liane Moriarty

All conflict can be traced back to someone's feelings getting hurt, don't you think?

~Liane Moriarty

You've been here before. It won't kill you. It feels like you can't breathe, but you actually are breathing. It feels like you'll never stop crying, but you actually will.

~Liane Moriarty

But maybe every life looked wonderful if all you saw was the photo albums.

~Liane Moriarty

None of us ever know all the possible courses our lives could have and maybe should have taken. It's probably just as well. Some secrets are meant to stay secret forever. Just ask Pandora.

~Liane Moriarty

All these years there had been a Tupperware container of bad language in her head, and now she opened it and all those crisp, crunchy words were fresh and lovely, ready to be used.

~Liane Moriarty

Happy endings always made her cry. It was the relief.

~Liane Moriarty

Perhaps nothing was ever meant to be. There was just life, and right now, and doing your best. Being a bit œbendy.

~Liane Moriarty

Just because a marriage ended didn't mean that it hadn't been happy at times.

~Liane Moriarty

Some secrets are meant to stay secret forever.

~Liane Moriarty

She didn't understand a damned thing about life except that it was arbitrary and cruel, and some people got away with murder while others made one tiny, careless mistake and paid a terrible price.

~Liane Moriarty

Then he kissed her so deeply and so completely that she felt like she was falling, floating, spiraling down, down, down, like Alice in Wonderland.

~Liane Moriarty

If parents had children who were good sleepers, they assumed this was due to their good parenting, not good luck.

~Liane Moriarty

I see lots of differences between Australians and Americans - but as mothers, I think we're pretty much alike!

~Liane Moriarty

They say it's good to let your grudges go, but I don't know, I'm quite fond of my grudge. I tend to it like a little pet.

~Liane Moriarty

Everyone wanted to be rich and beautiful, but the truly rich and beautiful had to pretend they were just the same as everyone else.

~Liane Moriarty

Marriage was a form of insanity; love hovering permanently on the edge of aggravation.

~Liane Moriarty

The medication, the hormones and the relentless frustrations of our lives make us bitchy and you're not allowed to be bitchy in public or people won't like you.

~Liane Moriarty

She longed to feel something momentous. Sometimes her life seemed so little.

~Liane Moriarty

It was like she was thinking, How far can I go with this? How much more can I fit in my life without losing control?

~Liane Moriarty

Nobody ever told you that being a mother is all about making what seemed like thousands of tiny decisions.

~Liane Moriarty

There were worse things to be than sexist. For example, you could be the sort of person who pinched your fingers together while using the words "teeny weeny".

~Liane Moriarty

What if I was! That's my point. What if I was a bit overweight and not especially pretty? Why is that so terrible? So disgusting? Why is that the end of the world?
