I think the whole, like, cultural diversity and the arty side of London is really, really great. And how it's so historic as well.

~Lily Allen

I don't see myself as a role model; people should look to mothers and sisters as role models.

~Lily Allen

I'm opinionated, but I'm not a vindictive person and I never say anything unprovoked, either.

~Lily Allen

Because of piracy there has been a massive downturn in people buying music, which makes it more difficult for artists to make money from the sale of records.

~Lily Allen

If you can't detect the sarcasm you've misunderstood.

~Lily Allen

I was a drug dealer in Ibiza at 15. I did not excel in drug dealing - I was terrible at it. Golden rule with drug dealing - don't get too enthusiastic with your own merchandise.

~Lily Allen

I think as long as you're not being malicious and you're not hurting people then you should not be ashamed of what you do.

~Lily Allen

I think I'm like Marmite; you either love me or you hate me.

~Lily Allen

Perez Hilton is an irritating wasp in the beautiful rose garden that is my life.

~Lily Allen

I always wanted to do music but never really had the confidence to do it until my first manager George Lamb, who I met out in Ibiza, encouraged me.

~Lily Allen

I don't think men are the enemy. I think women are the enemy.

~Lily Allen

You have to be in love with yourself before anyone else can fall in love with you; to be happy with yourself.

~Lily Allen

When I hit a period of not being able to write music, I get up and walk away. It's pretty mean but it's true.

~Lily Allen

I know lots of people that take cocaine three nights a week and get up and go to work every day, no problem. But we never hear that side of the story.

~Lily Allen

People in this day and age are still under the illusion that every woman who is successful must be being controlled by a man... I'm the boss.

~Lily Allen

I'm really convinced I'm not talented at all, and I'm sure that people are just about to figure that out.

~Lily Allen

When a music teacher that I had at school was taken ill and we had a variety show and I had to fill in - that's when I realized I had a voice.

~Lily Allen

There's a certain amount of what I wear that I wear for irony.

~Lily Allen

I still think I'm fat. Right now I'm worrying about how I'm going to lose weight after the pregnancy. I feel like an elephant, but I do get the occasional sexy pregnant day where I think I look great.

~Lily Allen

I never go out to be photographed, never. I go to events because they're fun.

~Lily Allen

I've always listened to music, since I was really, really young.

~Lily Allen

Sometimes I wish I was just a girl in an indie band. I could dance around on stage and it wouldn't be so much about me.

~Lily Allen

When I'm in New York my boyfriend buys me sneakers and vice versa.

~Lily Allen

Cheryl Cole, if you're reading this, I may not be as pretty as you but at least I write my own songs.

~Lily Allen

I studied voice when I was at school, and I was in the chamber choir, and I studied music theory as well, so I guess a lot of it came from being taught at school.

~Lily Allen

I refuse to put make-up on just because the paparazzi are on my doorstep. I find it morally wrong.

~Lily Allen

I don't really see how any song can not feel contrived if it isn't honest, and how could I write honest songs if I don't write about stuff going on in my life and how I'm feeling?

~Lily Allen

Yeah, I was a florist. I went to floristry school.

~Lily Allen

I like them old and rich.
