

Linda Chavez

Quotes

*Literature, Military, White, Rights, Black, Sea, President, War, Religious, Believe, Government, Population, Jeans, Iraq, Success, Law, September 11,
Art, Atrocities, May*

Back in the day, a pair of tight jeans was enough to earn a girl a bad reputation. Now slutty has gone Main Street.

~Linda Chavez

The United Nations has become a largely irrelevant, if not positively destructive institution, and the just-released U.N. report on the atrocities in Darfur, Sudan, proves the point.

~Linda Chavez

One of the techniques terrorists employ is to allege torture and mistreatment when they are captured, regardless of whether it is true.

~Linda Chavez

Although an increasing proportion of the Hispanic population is foreign-born - about half of adults in this group - English proficiency is and should remain a requirement for citizenship.

~Linda Chavez

Liberals believe they own the franchise on minorities and can't stand any Hispanic or black who breaks rank.

~Linda Chavez

When have handouts ever worked? In the United States, we learned that welfare for our own citizens not only turned into a debilitating crutch, it created a more or less permanent underclass.

~Linda Chavez

Some 43 percent of voters in union households voted for President Bush in 2004, according to exit poll data.

~Linda Chavez

Neither the wording of the amendment itself nor common practice challenged the widely held belief that government guaranteed freedom of religion, not freedom from religion.

~Linda Chavez

We have created not a Brave New World, but a vulgar marketplace, where human attributes come with a price tag.

~Linda Chavez

For generations, even many otherwise decent white Southerners learned to despise black people.

~Linda Chavez

Modesty used to be considered a natural female attribute. No more.

~Linda Chavez

Choosing one's leaders is an affirmation that the person making the choice has inherent worth.

~Linda Chavez

Journalists are supposed to be skeptical, that's what keeps them digging rather than simply accepting the official line, whether it comes from government or corporate bureaucrats.

~Linda Chavez

In fact, the U.S. military has bent over backwards to respect the religious beliefs of some very dangerous fanatics who want to kill us.

~Linda Chavez

Britons seem to have given up on assimilating their Muslim population, with many British elites patting themselves on the back for their tolerance and multiculturalism.

~Linda Chavez

Where journalists have gotten themselves in trouble over the last few decades is that their skepticism often extends only to American officials, the U.S. military and Republican politicians.

~Linda Chavez

Success is creating something original and lasting-whether it is a company, a work of art, an idea or analysis that influence others, or a happy and productive family.

~Linda Chavez

The terrorists hide behind Allah.

~Linda Chavez

Many journalists seem to believe that we have become little different from our enemies.

~Linda Chavez

The U.S. has already suffered a devastating attack on September 11, 2001, and may again become a target.

~Linda Chavez

From George Washington to George W. Bush, presidents have invoked God's name in the performance of their official duties.

~Linda Chavez

Related Links:

- Literature Quotes
- Military Quotes
- White Quotes
- Rights Quotes
- Black Quotes
- Sea Quotes
- President Quotes
- War Quotes
- Religious Quotes
- Believe Quotes
- Government Quotes
- Population Quotes
- Jeans Quotes
- Iraq Quotes
- Success Quotes
- Law Quotes
- September 11 Quotes
- Art Quotes
- Atrocities Quotes
- May Quotes