

Loretta Young Quotes

Believe, Thinking, Self, Giving, I Believe, Enthusiasm, Prayer, Eye, Voice, Beauty, Dream, Actresses, Want, Bears, Emotion, Stars, Children, Knows, Glamour, Time

Love isn't something you find. Love is something that finds you.

~Loretta Young

A charming woman... doesn't follow the crowd. She is herself.

~Loretta Young

Giving credit where credit is due is a very rewarding habit to form. Its rewards are inestimable.

~Loretta Young

Unless some misfortune has made it impossible, everyone can have good posture.

~Loretta Young

There are no ugly ducklings.

~Loretta Young

A charming woman is a busy woman.

~Loretta Young

A face is like the outside of a house, and most faces, like most houses, give us an idea of what we can expect to find inside.

~Loretta Young

I believe that prayer is our powerful contact with the greatest force in the universe.

~Loretta Young

Nearly everyone I met, worked with, or read about was my teacher, one way or another.

~Loretta Young

Fashion should not be expected to serve in the stead of courage or character.

~Loretta Young

I believe in living today. Not in yesterday, nor in tomorrow.

~Loretta Young

I'd thought of myself as a great big motion picture star from the time I was 6.

~Loretta Young

What you don't know intrigues you more than what you do know.

~Loretta Young

I believe in the Golden Rule. I believe in practicing it.

~Loretta Young

There is no personal achievement in being born beautiful.

~Loretta Young

Glamour is something you can't bear to be without once you're used to it.

~Loretta Young

If you have enthusiasm, you have a very dynamic, effective companion to travel with you on the road to Somewhere.

~Loretta Young

I do not hold with those who think it is all right to do whatever you want so long as it doesn't hurt anyone. Who's to be the judge of that?

~Loretta Young

Just because you want to be glamorous, don't be a sheep about your eye makeup.

~Loretta Young

Like charity, I believe glamour should begin at home.

~Loretta Young

I was deaf and dumb and blind to all but me, myself and I.

~Loretta Young

A pleasant voice, which has to include clear enunciation, is not only attractive to those who hear it... its appeal is permanent.

~Loretta Young

As an actress, I have to be objective about myself. If I don't criticize myself, there are plenty who will do a fine job of it for me!

~Loretta Young

I can't imagine dating a boy, meeting him only outside the home. What's a home and family for if it's not the center of one's life?

~Loretta Young

Wearing the correct dress for any occasion is a matter of good manners.

~Loretta Young

I want no part of making any contribution whatsoever to the despair which eventually follows downbeat thinking.

~Loretta Young

Selfishness and self-absorption are deadly charm-exterminators.

~Loretta Young

I've always been scared to death of pain - afraid, even, to think of it.

~Loretta Young

In common with many others in the varied branches of our profession, my academic education is subnormal.

~Loretta Young

When I left 20th Century-Fox to freelance, my agent believed that getting big money was the way to establish real importance in our industry.

~Loretta Young

I hated school One of the reasons was a learning disability, dyslexia, which no one understood at the time. I still can't spell . . .

~Loretta Young

Everything worthwhile, everything of any value, has its price. Everything anyone has ever wanted has come neatly wrapped up in its penalties.

~Loretta Young

We can't have everything! It took a lot of growing up for me to realize this unalterable fact and to discipline myself into accepting it.

~Loretta Young

I believe you have to nurture your conscience.

~Loretta Young

As an actress, emotions are my business, my stock-in-trade. As such, I've dealt with them nearly all my life.

~Loretta Young

I was as impatient about finding my dream man as I was about everything else I wanted.

~Loretta Young

It's so important to look relaxed.

~Loretta Young

I've learned that getting what you want gives you a pretty high batting average, and leaves you plenty to struggle for.

~Loretta Young

The split second she ceases to care is the only time a woman ceases to be attractive.

~Loretta Young

I don't yearn to be a child again.

~Loretta Young

Just after I entered my teens I suddenly entertained an insatiable enthusiasm for the delightful habit of criticizing others.

~Loretta Young

Of course it was Mamma who both stopped my career and crystallized my determination to resume it.

~Loretta Young

Success can't be forced.

~Loretta Young

I've a full-length triple-panel mirror in which I can see every possible angle, and I spend quite a lot of time in front of it.

~Loretta Young

Glamour is something no woman can be born with. It's not a gift at all. It's more of a concoction than anything else.

~Loretta Young

In my dreams, I could be a Princess, and that's what I was. Like most little girls, I believed nothing less than a Prince could make my dreams come true.

~Loretta Young

In 1949 there was a new thing called Television, to which my agency and advisers opposed as a performance medium.

~Loretta Young

In silence - and in self-defense - I figured things out in my own little way.

~Loretta Young

Every day, no matter what I'm doing, I say, 'Lord, I'll do the best I can, and You do the rest.

~Loretta Young

Your hands, your eyes, your voice, your thoughts are your servants.

~Loretta Young

I'm grateful to God for His bountiful gifts... He gave me courage and faith in myself.

~Loretta Young

No one is ever too old, too rich, too poor, to pray.

~Loretta Young

I couldn't bear it if anyone knew I had hardly any self-confidence at all.

~Loretta Young

Certainly tears are given to us to use. Like all good gifts, they should be used properly.

~Loretta Young

Gratitude isn't a burdening emotion.

~Loretta Young

I think making mistakes is as inevitable as receiving disappointments.

~Loretta Young

I'm not sure the public knows what it wants.

~Loretta Young

I was a very wanting child.

~Loretta Young

I learned you have to fight for yourself in the picture business.

~Loretta Young

A face that is really lovely in repose can fall apart if, when its owner starts to talk, she distorts every feature.

~Loretta Young

I'd lived by quotations, practically all my life.

~Loretta Young

I think teenage impatience is just plain human nature! I think every generation has to cope with different circumstances, different problems. But it's the world that's changed. Human nature hasn't.

~Loretta Young

A beguiling lady doesn't take after the swarm. She is herself.

~Loretta Young

Related Links:

- Believe Quotes
- Thinking Quotes
- Self Quotes
- Giving Quotes
- I Believe Quotes
- Enthusiasm Quotes
- Prayer Quotes
- Eye Quotes
- Voice Quotes
- Beauty Quotes
- Dream Quotes
- Actresses Quotes
- Want Quotes
- Bears Quotes
- Emotion Quotes
- Stars Quotes
- Children Quotes
- Knows Quotes
- Glamour Quotes
- Time Quotes