Are there a lot of designers that matter? The industry hasn't got a litmus test any more. The whole thing has imploded. Watch it die, like the banking industry

~Louise Wilson

A lot of people believe that you don't need to know the history and that creates newness. I disagree: we should always be informed and then destroy it.

~Louise Wilson

I often ask students: 'Is this what you would show Tom Ford?' and they say: 'No, we'd have done more work' or 'We'd have dressed better.' So I say: 'Why don't you do that here?'

~Louise Wilson

When they first arrive, really, my eyes bleed! It's only when they're about to leave that they become people you might want to know.

~Louise Wilson

I never really liked Italy. 'Lots of cement' is my long-standing quote.
