Extreme sports tricks are becoming increasingly complex, the courses ever more challenging and crashes all too common.

~Lucy Walker

The world of extreme sports is also one of the big businesses. Kids might think that snowboarding is the ultimate freedom, but this freedom is being marketed to them by commercial sponsors.

~Lucy Walker

I've always been a fiction filmmaker and I've been heading in the direction of fiction filmmaking, doing documentaries along the way.

~Lucy Walker

I remember when the Berlin Wall fell and suddenly intractable problems get solved.

~Lucy Walker

I love great locations in movies, and I couldn't believe I'd never seen a landfill on screen before. It was the most haunting place.

~Lucy Walker

I love making fiction films as well as nonfiction ones, and hope to keep challenging myself to make better and better work.

~Lucy Walker

I don't believe in objectivity. I observe the observer's paradox every moment I'm filming. Your presence is changing everything; there's no mistaking it. And you have a responsibility.

~Lucy Walker

My main trick is to work with amazing people. It's a long and twisty journey and you need people that really are amazing and have this rare gift of honesty and courage and really open up.

~Lucy Walker

The world needs more women filmmakers, so we have to keep encouraging ourselves and one another, and eventually things must get easier for us.
