There is so much in the world to hate, why hate yourself?

~Lydia Lunch

I'm completely optimistic - I know the end is coming!

~Lydia Lunch

I think it's important to encourage gluttony in all its formats.

~Lydia Lunch

I'm a total pleasure seeker. I pursue anything that satisfies me. I usually get it. I have specific needs and I know what they are so I can achieve satisfaction.

~Lydia Lunch

I'm nihilistic, antagonistic, violent, horrible - but not obliterated, yet. I just refuse to be beaten down. I think it's stubbornness that keeps me going.

~Lydia Lunch

I used to think feminism was a liberating force - now I see many of those people are just censors under a different name.

~Lydia Lunch

Just because my bank account hasn't swelled astronomically I don't consider myself any less of a success.

~Lydia Lunch

The female format is a beautiful one in which to function. Foolhardy as it may be. I change my image all the time, it's whatever suits me at the moment.

~Lydia Lunch

Part of the charm of what I do is the fact that it's completely unrelated to everything that came before.

~Lydia Lunch

Think your own thoughts.

~Lydia Lunch

The need to document my insanity is an affliction I have not yet cured myself of.

~Lydia Lunch

I would be humiliated if I found out that anything I did actually became a commercial success.

~Lydia Lunch

I think my speeches are hilarious. I think I'm a natural comedian, but I like denying people the chance to laugh. I want to deny you the relief of the punchline.

~Lydia Lunch

Sure you're powerless, sure you're just one person, sure you can't change anything but you don't have to be miserable about it as well.

~Lydia Lunch

I am a humanist not a feminist. There's a big difference.

~Lydia Lunch

If people could understand how much pleasure they could have by themselves, I think everyone would be a lot saner. I think that people really need a dose of quality time with one's self.

~Lydia Lunch

I'm a very sympathetic person, but that doesn't always come across in my work because I'm too busy being mad at everything.

~Lydia Lunch

Politics are always involved, even in my love songs.

~Lydia Lunch

I'm like a one-woman protest machine.

~Lydia Lunch

'Musician' is not a very respected title. I'm not a musician.
