

Malcolm Lowry

Quotes

Men, Moon, Littles, Thinking, Heart, Dog, Night, Mute, Helping, War, Two, Tragedy, Earth, Cry, Land, Dying, Lonely, Drink, Moral, Civilization

Muzzle a dog and he will bark out of the other end.

~Malcolm Lowry

Fear ringed by doubt is my eternal moon.

~Malcolm Lowry

How, unless you drink as I do, could you hope to understand the beauty of an old Indian woman playing dominoes with a chicken?

~Malcolm Lowry

What is man but a little soul holding up a corpse?

~Malcolm Lowry

For a time they confronted each other like two mute unspeaking forts.

~Malcolm Lowry

Good God, if our civilization were to sober up for a couple of days it'd die of remorse on the third.

~Malcolm Lowry

Never think that by releasing me you will be free. You would only condemn us to an ultimate hell on earth. You would only free something else to destroy us both.

~Malcolm Lowry

How alike are the groans of love to those of the dying.

~Malcolm Lowry

Only against death does man cry out in vain.

~Malcolm Lowry

I like prefaces. I read them. Sometimes I do not read any further.

~Malcolm Lowry

How shall the murdered man convince his assassin he will not haunt him.

~Malcolm Lowry

Perhaps his tragedy is that he is the one normal writer left on earth and it is this that adds to his isolation and so to his sense of guilt.

~Malcolm Lowry

In the war to come correspondents would assume unheard of importance, plunging through flame to feed the public its little gobbets of dehydrated excrement.

~Malcolm Lowry

Related Links:

- Men Quotes
- Moon Quotes
- Littles Quotes
- Thinking Quotes
- Heart Quotes
- Dog Quotes
- Night Quotes
- Mute Quotes
- Helping Quotes
- War Quotes
- Two Quotes
- Tragedy Quotes
- Earth Quotes
- Cry Quotes
- Land Quotes
- Dying Quotes
- Lonely Quotes
- Drink Quotes
- Moral Quotes
- Civilization Quotes