

Marc Guggenheim Quotes

*Thinking, Television, Writing, Matter, Want, Ideas, People, Way, Doing Me,
These Days, Superhero, Actors, World, The End Of The Day, Found, Indiana, Needs, Unlocking, Character, Problem*

I think when you do a season of television you go into it going I'd like the season premiere needs to be amazing. The season finale needs to be amazing.

~Marc Guggenheim

Probably the biggest challenge is actors, no matter how talented the actor is they don't have the capability of being in more than one place than one particular time, which is very vexing.

~Marc Guggenheim

I love doing meta-humor, as long as it doesn't become too distracting and it's subtle.

~Marc Guggenheim

Time away from thinking about something is as valuable - perhaps even more so - than directly thinking about it.

~Marc Guggenheim

Your subconscious is always working in the background, unlocking things and solving problems.

~Marc Guggenheim

The guy who sits at the keyboard and types is so much smarter than I am. I think I got into writing so that I could spend as much time with that guy as possible.

~Marc Guggenheim

Do what you love and you'll always love what you do. I've found that that's true most of the time.

~Marc Guggenheim

The world's an angry place these days. Let's just not take it out on each other.

~Marc Guggenheim

At some point if you're a professional writer, no matter what, it always comes down to you staring at the blank page by yourself.

~Marc Guggenheim

There should be nothing I can't live without.

~Marc Guggenheim

At the end of the day, I think the only way to do the kind of job a writer does is push everything aside and just ultimately sit down and do the work.

~Marc Guggenheim

I think when it comes to television as opposed to film, the producers really are the writers. We work with people who are purely financial producers.

~Marc Guggenheim

When I write a film, the film gets handed off to a producer and a director and I go my merry way. With television, I am expected and contracted to stick around and actually produce what I've written.

~Marc Guggenheim

You can save the city, but having the city be in jeopardy is one thing and having the people you care about be in jeopardy is another.

~Marc Guggenheim

Time has a certain current to it, and it wants to flow in a certain direction.

~Marc Guggenheim

I always think the audience sometimes wants what you're not giving them.

~Marc Guggenheim

Related Links:

- Thinking Quotes
- Television Quotes
- Writing Quotes
- Matter Quotes
- Want Quotes
- Ideas Quotes
- People Quotes
- Way Quotes
- Doing Me Quotes
- These Days Quotes
- Superhero Quotes
- Actors Quotes
- World Quotes
- The End Of The Day Quotes
- Found Quotes
- Indiana Quotes
- Needs Quotes
- Unlocking Quotes
- Character Quotes
- Problem Quotes