Prison is the only form of public housing that the government has truly invested in over the past 5 decades

~Marc Lamont Hill

When they say accountability, they mean surveillance and standardization.

~Marc Lamont Hill

We live in a world where black humanity is a relatively new idea.

~Marc Lamont Hill

The hoodies themselves aren't criminal. White people wear hoodies all the time!

~Marc Lamont Hill

For me, self-care is a lesson I'm still learning. But it begins with space away from the heaviness of life. I now take time to play, laugh, and, every once in awhile, sleep.

~Marc Lamont Hill

We must talk about how sexism and patriarchy operate in conjunction with state violence. Until we're honest about that, and do something to resist, we're complicit in the persistence of oppression.

~Marc Lamont Hill

There's a long history of saying certain people shouldn't be voting. And, unfortunately, the people who are often left out of these conversations are people who are black and brown.

~Marc Lamont Hill

Throughout history there have been black people who have played mammies, all sorts of offensive images, who didn't mind doing it.
