Love yourself. Respect yourself. Never sell yourself short. Believe in yourself regardless of what people think. You can accomplish anything, absolutely anything, if you set your mind to it.

~Marcus Allen

It's time we saw sex as the truly sacred art that it is. A deep meditation, a holy communion and a dance with the force of creation.

~Marcus Allen

I just felt like reflecting on my junior year, when I didn't know what I was doing, I left a lot of stuff out there. Actually, I gained close to 700 yards more and I took myself out of a lot of games.

~Marcus Allen

That's the thing about fear. Death will kill you once, but fear kills you over and over and over, if you let it.

~Marcus Allen

But Barry, to me, is head and shoulders above everybody.

~Marcus Allen

At USC, if you're running back there, and you do gain you over 1,500 yards, people see you as a candidate, but not one of the top ones.

~Marcus Allen

There are two types of players: those who know and those who don't. The smartest ones usually play the longest and [are] usually the most successful.

~Marcus Allen

I just think that we're capable of so much more; we don't utilize all our capacity like we should.

~Marcus Allen

To be a winner of that, and to fall in the long line of traditional great backs at USC, to have your name in perpetuity, the fact that your parents are like icons... that's the greatest thing.

~Marcus Allen

But there is something to the fact that we don't see games on the West Coast, or we don't see games on the East Coast, and stuff like that. It's so unfair, because there is a bias that takes place.

~Marcus Allen

Even as voters, we try to keep up with the guys as much as possible, mainly through television or ESPN.

~Marcus Allen

It's always hard - if you're not the best player on your team, how can you be the best player in college?

~Marcus Allen

It actually took me a year to learn how to play running back - to understand what they were doing defensively and then what our guys were doing every single play.
