As water and fire oppose one another when combined, so are self-justification and humility opposed to one another.

~Marcus Eremita

It is better to pray with good will for our neighbor, rather than to denounce him for every sin.

~Marcus Eremita

Because God's justice is inexorable, it is hard to obtain forgiveness for sins committed with complete deliberation.

~Marcus Eremita

The sign of sincere love is to forgive wrongs done to us. It was with such love that the Lord loved the world.

~Marcus Eremita

Do not think about or do anything without a spiritual purpose, whereby it is done for God. For If you travel without purpose, you shall labor in vain.

~Marcus Eremita

If someone puts his trust in God in a matter, let him not argue with his brother about it.

~Marcus Eremita

Do not attempt to benefit by rebukes one who boasts of his virtues, for he loves to display himself can not be a lover of truth.

~Marcus Eremita

Do not desire to hear about the misfortunes of those who oppose you. For those who listen to such speech later reap the fruits of their evil intention.

~Marcus Eremita

Whoever does not fight the one who despises him, neither in word not in thought, has received true knowledge and demonstrates a firm trust in God.

~Marcus Eremita

The devil makes small sins seem smaller in our eyes, for otherwise he can't lead us to greater evil.

~Marcus Eremita

Conquer temptations by the patience and prayer. If you oppose them without these, you will fall all the more severely.

~Marcus Eremita

Whoever has a spiritual gift and compassionate toward one who does not have it guards his gift through his compassion. But whoever is proud of his gift loses it through self-opinion.

~Marcus Eremita

Every sin that is left without repentance is a sin unto death, for which if even a saint shall pray, he shall not be heard.

~Marcus Eremita

Whoever prays for those who hurt him lays the demons low; but he who opposes his affronter is bound to the demons.

~Marcus Eremita

No one is as good and merciful as the Lord. But even He does not forgive the unrepentant.

~Marcus Eremita

If someone falls into any sin and is not sincerely grieved about it, it is easy for him to fall into the same thing again.

~Marcus Eremita

Every affliction tests our will, showing whether it is inclined to good or evil. That is why an unforeseen affliction is called a test, because it enables a man to test his hidden desires.

~Marcus Eremita

When the mind forgets the purpose of Christian life, then even the clear fulfillment of virtue becomes profitless.

~Marcus Eremita

A man who is enticed by sinful thoughts is blinded by them, and he sees the action of sin in himself, but he can not see the cause of this action.

~Marcus Eremita

If you want the Lord to hide your sins, then don't talk to people about what kind of virtues you have. For as we relate to our virtues, so God relates to our sins.

~Marcus Eremita

Do not try to decide a difficult matter by means of disputing, but that which is enjoined by the spiritual law, namely patience, prayer, and thoughtful hope.

~Marcus Eremita

One who has sinned cannot escape retribution in any other way than by repentance corresponding to his sin.

~Marcus Eremita

One evil receives strength from another. In the same way, good deeds also sprout one from another, and the one in whom they are found grows larger.

~Marcus Eremita

Whatever we do or say without prayer always ends up either sinful or harmful and convicts us through the deeds in some mysterious way.

~Marcus Eremita

Failure to do the good that is within your power is hard to forgive. But mercy and prayer reclaim the negligent.

~Marcus Eremita

He who seeks forgiveness of his sins loves humility, but if he condemns another he seals his own wickedness.

~Marcus Eremita

We cannot with all our heart forgive someone who does us wrong unless we possess real knowledge. For this knowledge shows us that we deserve all we experience.
