It's a great thing about being a musician; you don't stop until the day you die, you can improve. So it's a wonderful thing to do.

~Marcus Miller

I got so many emails and text messages, my phone blew up because it couldn't handle everybody. It's like almost being at your own funeral because of the way the headline read.

~Marcus Miller

It's so important to me to make the music right that I didn't have time to be intimidated.

~Marcus Miller

Scott Tixier is an exciting young jazz violinist and is making an international name for himself. I heard him in France and was immediately struck by his individuality and his sound.
