

Margery Wilson Quotes

Thinking, People, Self, Trying, Humanity, Lying, Flirting, Live In The Moment, Senses, Dangerous, Air, Deep Within, Flattery, Blessed, Inward, Could Have Been, Toys, Charm, Mind, Years

a diplomat ... is not worthy of the name unless he can say 'no' and make the other person like it - or at least not be offended by it.

~Margery Wilson

The hope of any nation lies in the personal qualities of its individual members.

~Margery Wilson

they're the sort of people one invites to lunch or tea, but never to dinner.

~Margery Wilson

So few people can think and talk at the same time.

~Margery Wilson

Women will not, for many a year, perhaps never, descend again to the status of toys.

~Margery Wilson

Charm lies in complete forgetfulness of self.

~Margery Wilson

Time is a friend - perhaps the best one we shall ever have. ... Time is a now - and there is only now. Memories look backward. Hope looks ahead. But there is in reality only now.

~Margery Wilson

Probably one of the reasons why gushing is so unattractive is that it leaves nothing for the listener to do.

~Margery Wilson

People make life. The more people, the more life.

~Margery Wilson

Flirting is a cheap, dangerous shortcut to get something you can't hold after you get it.

~Margery Wilson

To be alive is sufficient evidence that we are needed in the world. Otherwise we wouldn't be here.

~Margery Wilson

any fair-minded person will agree that humanity hasn't the faintest inkling, at this time, of the powers and laws that will, sometime, be known and used.

~Margery Wilson

Try to think of your thoughts as boomerangs - that is actually what they are - except that our thoughts multiply and each returns to us with a brood like itself.

~Margery Wilson

No one could have been more surprised than I at my successes, and yet deep within me there was acknowledgment that had I not succeeded, I would have been equally surprised.

~Margery Wilson

All life is a delusion of the senses.

~Margery Wilson

The very thing that seems to impede your progress can often be turned to account for you.

~Margery Wilson

Life pulls at bewildered humanity in so many ways! Blessed is the woman who makes her life a career of stimulating the courage of others.

~Margery Wilson

Related Links:

- Thinking Quotes
- People Quotes
- Self Quotes
- Trying Quotes
- Humanity Quotes
- Lying Quotes
- Flirting Quotes
- Live In The Moment Quotes
- Senses Quotes
- Dangerous Quotes
- Air Quotes
- Deep Within Quotes
- Flattery Quotes
- Blessed Quotes
- Inward Quotes
- Could Have Been Quotes
- Toys Quotes
- Charm Quotes
- Mind Quotes
- Years Quotes