We didn't have movies in this little mining town. When I was 12 my mom took me to New York and I saw Bye Bye Birdie, with people singing and dancing, and that was it.

~Margot Kidder

I'm a grandmother with dogs and nice friends here in the Rocky mountains. Ever see the movie A River Runs Through It? That's where I live. It's beautiful, no two ways about it.

~Margot Kidder

It was a wonderful time to be young. The 1960s didn't end until about 1976. We all believed in Make Love, Not War. We were idealistic innocents, despite the drugs and sex.

~Margot Kidder

I love horror movies because they're really fun. They tap into those wonderful primal emotions.

~Margot Kidder

There's a new science out called orthomolecular medicine. You correct the chemical imbalance with amino acids and vitamins and minerals that are naturally in the body

~Margot Kidder

I went to work and did a lot of homework about what was wrong with me

~Margot Kidder

The thing about the wacky fans is that they're really sweet.

~Margot Kidder

I was very active in the peace movement, still am.

~Margot Kidder

I don't buy into any of that hogwash. They put that out to sell tickets. It's just a classic horror movie, with the Greek drama formula of good versus evil, and lots of fear.

~Margot Kidder

If you're gonna fall apart, do it in your own bedroom.

~Margot Kidder

God, George Bush makes me want to slash my wrists. He's so embarrassing I have to leave the room when he's on the news. What a monkey.

~Margot Kidder

With any group of people in life, sad things happen, and crazy things, and happy things. When you're in the public eye, it's just amplified, that's all.

~Margot Kidder

I was briefly bitter.

~Margot Kidder

My pro-choice activism keeps me busy.

~Margot Kidder

Being pretty crazy while being chased by the National Enquirer is not good. The British tabloids were the worst.

~Margot Kidder

The thing about all good horror movies is that the fans expect a couple of inside jokes. Maybe I'm supposed to be saying how terrified I was while making it, but it was really fun.

~Margot Kidder

We were sweet, lovely people who wanted to throw out all the staid institutions who placed money and wars above all else. When you're young you think that's how life works.

~Margot Kidder

I remember laughing an inordinate amount of time. Setting up scenes that involve ooze coming out basements, or pigs' heads flying through windows is really fun. How could you not laugh?

~Margot Kidder

I was reading all these books, including the Bible - and I'm an atheist.

~Margot Kidder

Theres this unspoken club where you say to each other: Oh God, if they only knew how ordinary I was, they wouldnt be interested. That includes movie stars and politicians.

~Margot Kidder

The only movie that ever really scared me was The Exorcist, but even then, I was laughing part of the time.

~Margot Kidder

I was saying to Paul Schrader that he missed the idealism and the passion of that era in Hollywood, but also in American life, that '60s sense of optimism and hope.

~Margot Kidder

I'm not really into horror movies.

~Margot Kidder

This is my year of the remake. Go for it, see what you can do, guys, why not?

~Margot Kidder

My grandson sees me as Lois on TV every Christmas, and that scores me points.

~Margot Kidder

Acting's fun, but life's more important

~Margot Kidder

I liked the fact that Lois was one person with Clark and another with Superman. I think that, as women, we do that a lot when we fall in love.

~Margot Kidder

Nudity in the flesh doesn't bother me. But having my mind uncovered - that scares the hell out of me.

~Margot Kidder

I had always thought of Chris as my kid brother and watching how this kid, as I still thought of him, had affected so many peoples lives around the world was incredible.

~Margot Kidder

When you finally end something like Superman and then find yourself world-famous, it's pretty weird, lemme tell ya. Fame is weird, is what it really is. It's the weirdest thing in the world.

~Margot Kidder

I still get stopped by those freaky fundamentalists going "Oh, I'm so glad you did Tribulation." And I wanna go, "Don't count me into your group, honeybuns. I'm not one of you."

~Margot Kidder

I'll have that inscribed on my damn grave. I still get stopped for being Lois Lane, and I'm 60 and have two grandchildren. So it's kind of weird.

~Margot Kidder

Just the dream of every aging has-been actress who slipped out in public is to work with a bunch of gay boys.

~Margot Kidder

There's a lot of bullshit in Peter Fonda's autobiography. A great deal of it is complete fabrication.

~Margot Kidder

I'm a very good screamer, that's for sure.

~Margot Kidder

I, like everybody else, have lost most of my pension plan in this economic crash. So I have to. I'm going to call it I Slept With Everyone On Television.

~Margot Kidder

You take the cards you're dealt. I'm now ferociously healthy in body and mind. You couldn't pay me to go near a psychiatrist again. Stopping seeing them was my first step to getting well

~Margot Kidder

The thing about being famous is, it's weird. The only people who get how weird it is are other famous people.
