I love natural beauty, and I think it's your best look, but I think makeup as an artist is so transformative.

~Marina and the Diamonds

I think celebrity culture and sexuality in pop music is really important, but I want there to be an alternative for people.

~Marina and the Diamonds

Fake it, fake your confidence until it's real. I think it's a good way to live most of your life.

~Marina and the Diamonds

There's no one particular road that will lead you to success. I think everybody will find it differently.

~Marina and the Diamonds

When you are with the wrong person, who doesn't really love you, all you want is to be adored. It makes you more inward and needy. Gross.

~Marina and the Diamonds

I don't want to live in real life. It's too harsh, too brutal.

~Marina and the Diamonds

I quite like dark humor.

~Marina and the Diamonds

My biggest fear is love and getting hurt in love but still believing.

~Marina and the Diamonds

I feel like artists that are always quite sad in real life always make really happy music, and artists who are really bouncy and bubbly always make really sad music.

~Marina and the Diamonds

If you believe something enough, it comes true eventually, and that's so true even with lies. If you tell yourself a lie, after a few years you'll think it's true.

~Marina and the Diamonds

I don't really know how to live my life, just like lots of other people don't. I guess you just learn along the way.

~Marina and the Diamonds

I feel like everyone has the right to privacy, even if you're the most famous person in the world.

~Marina and the Diamonds

That's when you know you really fit with someone - when you can just sit there and not do anything. Kind of ignoring each other.

~Marina and the Diamonds

I'm obsessed with the mess that's America.

~Marina and the Diamonds

I'm vulnerable, I'm vulnerable. I am not a robot.

~Marina and the Diamonds

Drink to forget; don't forget to drink.

~Marina and the Diamonds

You can't have peace without a war.

~Marina and the Diamonds

I'm masquerading as an innocent pop star.

~Marina and the Diamonds

Everyone gets dumped and everyone gets hurt and there's karma to love in regards to what you've done to other people.

~Marina and the Diamonds

Obviously when you're a teen you have no money, so you make, like, three outfits out of one dress. You're like, 'OK cut the arms here. Alright: New party, cut them to here.'

~Marina and the Diamonds

I think I actually did write about love because I kind of had a fear of it, like we all do, nobody wants to get hurt.

~Marina and the Diamonds

I felt connected with Madonna from a very young age. I think I share a lot of qualities from her personality. I really respect her.

~Marina and the Diamonds

You could say that my life's a mess. But, I'm still looking pretty in this dress.

~Marina and the Diamonds

I want blood, guts, and chocolate cake.

~Marina and the Diamonds

I am absolutely not a roll-on-stage kind of girl! I would be totally freaked out if I didn't warm up, and I don't know how other singers do it.

~Marina and the Diamonds

I think each human being wants to make their mark on the world in whatever way they can, and maybe everyone has a slight egomaniac inside of them.

~Marina and the Diamonds

I feel like I'm the worst, so I always act like I'm the best.

~Marina and the Diamonds

I don't think I'm an instantaneous act the whole world will love in one second - but that's how I've felt about bands I love.

~Marina and the Diamonds

What I've learnt about artists over the years is, artists are usually the opposite to their music.

~Marina and the Diamonds

I think some people just have an innate musical ability, and I'm lucky enough to be one of those people.

~Marina and the Diamonds

I love 40's-60's fashion because it suits the type of figure that I have the most, so that's what I always go for. I won't change!

~Marina and the Diamonds

I'm not really part of that 'L.A. thing' or that celebrity culture. I'm more like someone who observes it, and I can't ever imagine being like that.

~Marina and the Diamonds

Lots of narcissistic people have helped lots of other people with their music. That's such a narcissistic thing to say! Ha ha!

~Marina and the Diamonds

Blonde symbolises sexuality and power - it holds very different connotations. The archetypal star has always been blonde.

~Marina and the Diamonds

I have sold my soul. I would sell my soul, if I could have it all.

~Marina and the Diamonds

I'm not going to lie; I'm not a huge remix person.

~Marina and the Diamonds

I was always very creative. I was always into acting and dancing when I was younger.

~Marina and the Diamonds

I actually quite like promo, which is quite odd for an artist, but recording's not the easiest thing.

~Marina and the Diamonds

Success, I've come to realise, is fleeting so you shouldn't value it too much.

~Marina and the Diamonds

I love pop music because you can really see what's currently happening in society.

~Marina and the Diamonds

Hollywood infected my brain and I really valued the wrong things in life, but I changed dramatically.

~Marina and the Diamonds

I have quite a lot of plastic sunglasses. It's just a nice accessory, it adds a final thing, and it's my favorite way of figuring an outfit.

~Marina and the Diamonds
