I love teaching. It's a job that lasts forever. Whatever you teach children today travels with them far into the future.

~Mary Pope Osborne

Writing is a miracle. You can travel anywhere in the world, to any time and any place and still be home in time to have dinner.

~Mary Pope Osborne

Reading is the basic springboard for learning. And books provide the liftoff. They are the great equalizer, opening up new worlds to everyone.

~Mary Pope Osborne

I have to keep facing the darkness. If I stand tall and face the thing I fear, I have a chance to conquer it. If I just keep dodging and hiding it will conquer me.

~Mary Pope Osborne

Then everything was still. Absolutely still.

~Mary Pope Osborne

There is no water and still less soap. We have no city, but lots of hope.

~Mary Pope Osborne

The historical novel gives us perspective on our modern lives and helps us connect with the story, which we are continuing ourselves.

~Mary Pope Osborne

I believe we're entering a new era, where dynamic female leaders will have an opportunity to bring greater harmony and peace to the planet.

~Mary Pope Osborne

Artists have to believe in the merit of their own work and persevere whether they receive public recognition or not, but it's ever so nice when someone says, "Job well done"!

~Mary Pope Osborne

I think it might be nice if there was a Cosimo de' Medici around today, offering commissions to the poor, but talented artists.

~Mary Pope Osborne

set sail on a voyage of your own titanic facts
