If a theory purports to explain everything, then it is likely not explaining much at all.

~Massimo Pigliucci

I can't speak for others, but I find the fundamental idea that a life worth living is one during which one strives every day to become a better person to be compelling.

~Massimo Pigliucci

Death itself is a natural occurrence, it is unavoidable, and the Stoics thought that part of philosophical practice is to get comfortable with the unavoidable, learning to face it with courage.
