The stories that are too personally vulnerable to write are the ones that must be told.

~Mat Kearney

Trying to find a heart that's not walking away.

~Mat Kearney

It's not the circumstances that determine who you're gonna be but how you deal with these problems and pains that come your way.

~Mat Kearney

If you make people think they're thinking they'll like you, but if you make people actually think, then watch out, you're not going to be popular.

~Mat Kearney

I love creating moments that feel bigger than just like an artist on stage.

~Mat Kearney

Life's too short to stay where we are.

~Mat Kearney

As an artist, you just want to keep creating, keep finding a place that really inspires you that feels fresh and new and keep it exciting.

~Mat Kearney

Don't apologize for all the tears you've cried, you've been way too strong now for all your life.

~Mat Kearney

I guess we're all one phone call from our knees

~Mat Kearney

I love being vulnerable. It's scary. I feel like the best stuff that I have ever written can come from real vulnerable places.

~Mat Kearney

I enjoy changing; I think it's more fun to try something different than to just do what you did last time.

~Mat Kearney

Getting married and really digging in with another human being can point out your greatest strengths and your greatest weaknesses.

~Mat Kearney

When I set out to write, I want to write something that will rip your heart out.

~Mat Kearney

The songs that you start to write that you are a little scared of can be the ones that you have to tell.

~Mat Kearney

As my uncle always says, 'If your vibe outweighs your substance, you're destined to be a novelty.' I think that is true in all art.

~Mat Kearney

Songs really tend to connect.
