But the problem with looking back when you should be walking ahead is that you usually end up walking into something that hurts.

~Megan Hart

When you find someone who makes you smile and laugh, when you find someone who makes you feel safe—you shouldn't let that person go just because you're afraid.

~Megan Hart

But sometimes it's the sunshine that frightens us more than the big black shadows.

~Megan Hart

I waited for a long time and there was nothing but the pain of wanting something I couldn't seem to find.

~Megan Hart

You don't have to be sad to miss someone and wish they were still in your life.

~Megan Hart

Good things, by their nature, are fleeting. It's those that bring us grief that linger.

~Megan Hart

When everything changes we learn who we really are. What's really important. What we want most. We discover the truth in moments of disarray.

~Megan Hart

Love is always real, even when it doesn't last.

~Megan Hart

All men have the stars, but they are not the same things for different people.

~Megan Hart

Jealousy smells like the water in the bottom of a flower vase after the flowers have died.

~Megan Hart

Foolish. Stupid. I knew it. I knew my reaction was unreasonable, but the heart has its reasons of which reason knows nothing. Blaise Pascal said that, and I've always found it to be true.

~Megan Hart

I know everything and nothing about him all at the same time.

~Megan Hart

I could say his body was perfect and every part of it beautiful, because it was. Not because he had no flaws, but because I wanted him so desperately I couldn't see any.

~Megan Hart

One must have sorrow to truly appreciate joy.

~Megan Hart

Sometimes, you turn back. Sometimes, you walk away. And sometimes, you find the place you're meant to be, and you stay there. You find a way to make it work. Whatever it takes.

~Megan Hart

You know what they say. Best revenge is looking good, right?

~Megan Hart

I looked at the cards in my hand, the queen of hearts nestled between the king of clubs and the king of spades. No wonder she was smiling.

~Megan Hart

We labored under the pretense that nothing had changed when everything had, and I understood him, but i no longer knew him.

~Megan Hart

Choices. We all make them, sometimes more than once. Sometimes it's the choices we make over and over that define us, but more often it's the choices we don't make.

~Megan Hart

Tears disturb and confuse men, but women know the relief they can bring. I didn't cry because I couldn't deal with my life, but because I could.

~Megan Hart

There seemed to be so much to say, but no words adequate to say it.

~Megan Hart

I've done my best to drive you away, Sadie," he said suddenly. "But you've never left me.

~Megan Hart

I was trying to replace something I'd come to care about very much with something pretending to be as important.

~Megan Hart

The hardest lies to detect are the ones surrounded by truth.

~Megan Hart

We were broken, brittle and fragile. The question was, were we still precious to each other? Or, instead of everything falling into place, had it fallen into pieces?

~Megan Hart

You can't hurt someone who doesn't care about you.

~Megan Hart

I've been hit on plenty of times, mostly by men with little finesse who thought what was between their legs made up for what they lacked between their ears.

~Megan Hart

I had no words to give him. No explanation. I didn't understand it, myself. It scared me, but then so do roller coasters, and I ride them anyway, too.

~Megan Hart

It was not a happy ending of the sort in fairy tales, but it was the only one we had.

~Megan Hart

Abandoning a task that is futile and pointless is not giving up.

~Megan Hart

If you're lucky, the friends you make when you're sixteen stay with you for the rest of your life. If you're smart, you know when it's time to let them go.

~Megan Hart

What are you, Elle? Are you a ghost? Are you an angel or a demon? Because you can't be real.

~Megan Hart

They were all you, to me. All of them were you.

~Megan Hart

And you're not afraid of it ending? • Sure I am. But I'd rather have something this good for a little while than have nothing forever.

~Megan Hart

There is so much freedom in not having to choose.

~Megan Hart

Sometimes grief is a comfort we grant ourselves because it's less terrifying than trying for joy.

~Megan Hart

Can I tell you honestly that I'd rather be in your life as your friend than nothing at all?

~Megan Hart

If you want to know how someone really feels, you almost never have to ask.

~Megan Hart

Perfection is too high a goal to strive for. Sometimes working hard brings more satisfaction in the end.

~Megan Hart

Bess had become the ocean, always breaking against the rocks but never staying broken. Her love was the ocean, too, endless and always changing, yet forever the same.

~Megan Hart

There's nothing that says you can't change." "Not even if it changes everything else?" I shook my head. "Not even then.

~Megan Hart

Sometimes,â€• he said after a second that lasted a million years, â€œthings get broken. And they can't be fixed.

~Megan Hart

Sometimes,â€• Joe said after a bit, â€œit's just easier to keep being what everyone expects you to be. Even if that's what you're not, anymore.

~Megan Hart

Does madness bring creativity? Or does creativity cause madness?
Can an artist create without the ups so high and the downs so low?

~Megan Hart

Scars are proof we can survive

~Megan Hart

I knew him, but I don't understand him.

~Megan Hart

My head's filled up with all the reasons it won't work. And I keep running the figures, over and over, but I can't seem to come up with an answer.

~Megan Hart

From the first time you laughed with me, all those months, and all those stories,â€• Joe said quietly. â€œThey were all you, to me. All of them were you.

~Megan Hart

I might be alone, but i'm never lonely.

~Megan Hart

If I'd known it was going to be the last time he'd ever hold me, I'd have paid better attention.

~Megan Hart

He was quiet. I said nothing, hoping that maybe, for once, he'd stop pretending he was okay. Then I could, too. That we could both forget the roles that had so long bound us.
