Every real story is a never ending story.

~Michael Ende

Calendars and clocks exist to measure time, but that signifies little because we all know that an hour can seem as eternity or pass in a flash, according to how we spend it.

~Michael Ende

You must let what happens happen. Everything must be equal in your eyes, good and evil, beautiful and ugly, foolish and wise.

~Michael Ende

There are many kinds of joy, but they all lead to one: the joy to be loved.

~Michael Ende

Once someone dreams a dream, it can't just drop out of existence. But if the dreamer can't remember it, what becomes of it?

~Michael Ende

My will can control anything that's empty.

~Michael Ende

A story can be new and yet tell about olden times. The past comes into existence with the story.

~Michael Ende

There were thousands and thousands of forms of joy in the world, but that all were essentially one and the same, namely, the joy of being able to love.

~Michael Ende

Wishes cannot be summoned up or kept away at will. They come from deeper within us than good or bad intentions. And they spring up unannounced.

~Michael Ende

Momo listened to everyone and everything - even to the rain and the wind and the pine trees - and all of them spoke to her after their own fashion.

~Michael Ende

Time is life itself, and life resides in the human heart.

~Michael Ende

Without a past you can't have a future.

~Michael Ende

Strange as it may seem, horror loses its power to frighten when repeated too often.

~Michael Ende

What I've started I must finish. I've gone too far to turn back. Regardless of what may happen, I have to go forward.

~Michael Ende

You don't feel a thing. There's just something missing. And once it gets hold of you, something more is missing every day. Soon there won't be anything left of us.

~Michael Ende

Nothing is lost. . .Everything is transformed.

~Michael Ende

To be wise was to be above joy and sorrow, fear and pity, ambition and humiliation. It was to hate nothing and to love nothing, and above all to be utterly indifferent to the love and hate of others.

~Michael Ende

People? People have been obsolete for years, They've made the world a place where there's no room left for their own kind.

~Michael Ende

Those who still think that listening isn't an art should see if they can do it half as well.

~Michael Ende

Nothing can happen more than once, but everything must happen one day; Over hill and dale, wood and stream, my dying voice will blow away. . .

~Michael Ende

Only the right name gives beings and things their reality. A wrong name makes everything unreal. That's what lies do.

~Michael Ende

Lots of things take time, and time was Momo's only form of wealth.

~Michael Ende

Just as the setting sun turned the clouds to liquid gold.

~Michael Ende

There are many kinds of delusion.

~Michael Ende

But that is another story and shall be told another time.

~Michael Ende

For a while Bastian stood motionless. He was so stunned by what he had just heard that he couldn't decide what to do... What he had hoped was his ruin and what he had feared his salvation.

~Michael Ende

Maybe all the people who say ghosts don't exist are just afraid to admit that they do.

~Michael Ende

Human passions have mysterious ways, in children as well as grown-ups. Those affected by them can't explain them, and those who haven't known them have no understanding of them at all.
