We understand tornadoes scientifically, but it still feels supernatural. The randomness makes it feel supernatural.

~Michael Koryta

You have only so many chances to tell stories. I didn't want to be forever wedded to one form of storytelling when there are so many out there.

~Michael Koryta

I started writing as soon as I started reading.

~Michael Koryta

What I love is the writing, it's not having written. I like the process of it.

~Michael Koryta

I think pressure can be an incentive toward improvement, and while I'm not denying that I feel some, I will also stress that it is self-inflicted and hopefully can be channeled in a healthy way.

~Michael Koryta

You should be writing for the love of the story, and when it comes time to return to the manuscript, everything else belongs behind a closed door.

~Michael Koryta

I think anyone who writes suspense fiction and says that King isn't an influence is either lying or being foolish.

~Michael Koryta

Band of Skulls is joining Cage the Elephant as my new musical caffeine.

~Michael Koryta

Horror and supernatural novels give you a lot of what you look for in a crime novel, just with a twist that was very fresh for me as a reader.
