Peacekeeping funds are an important and necessary part of what America does for humanity and the rest of the world.

~Michael McCaul

Our farmers and ranchers have never faced as many problems as they do today with drought, range fires, high gas prices and an ever tightening budget on agriculture subsidies.

~Michael McCaul

In the Steven F. Austin Colony, which was the first colony, Texans first established a provisional government in 1835 with the intention of writing a declaration of independence soon after.

~Michael McCaul

There can be no argument about the Lone Star State's significant contributions to American history, and we must remember the actions and the sacrifices of those who made Texas independence a reality.

~Michael McCaul

Every day we do get closer to a cure. Three out of four children who are diagnosed with cancer will survive the disease, but that is not good enough. The loss of one child to this disease is too much.

~Michael McCaul

Unfortunately, cancer is the number one killer of children in this country today, and it destroys not only these innocent victims, but their families as well.

~Michael McCaul

Currently, the United States provides 22 percent of the U.N. annual budgets, over $900 million in fiscal year 2007, and some of that funding goes to the Human Rights Council.

~Michael McCaul

We're making it more difficult to obtain the necessary ingredients to produce meth and tightening criminal penalties for those who deal in this dangerous drug.

~Michael McCaul

Additionally, any Human Rights Council reform that allows countries with despicable human rights records to remain as members, such as China and Saudi Arabia, is not real reform.

~Michael McCaul

We're going to be examining, how can we more properly screen and vet people coming into the United States? We will also be looking at the border.

~Michael McCaul

I think a lot of programs, policies have been put in place since 9/11, have prevented a 9/11-style attack. On the other hand, I think the threat has become greater, not lesser.

~Michael McCaul

Any employer is going to look at your social media before they hire you. Why aren't we doing that when we screen people coming into the United States?

~Michael McCaul

I believe the previous administration shrunk from some of our responsibilities as a superpower and made the world a more dangerous place.

~Michael McCaul

You can't just put the military in the streets of the United States rounding up illegal aliens. I think that would be a violation of federal law.
