We are not afraid of what we think we are afraid of . . . we are afraid of what we think.

~Michael Neill

If it feels like you're choosing between the lesser of two evils, don't. There is always a higher choice.

~Michael Neill

We think we are experiencing reality but what we are really experiencing is our thinking.

~Michael Neill

The most important choice you make is what you choose to make important.

~Michael Neill

If you are doing things in order to be happy... you're doing them in the wrong order.

~Michael Neill

The secret of happiness is simply this... your happiness does NOT depend on getting what you want.

~Michael Neill

The only real purpose of a goal is to inspire you to fall more deeply in love with life.

~Michael Neill

The universe runs on a fundamental and oh-so-wonderful principle... when you get really clear and honest about what you want, everything in the universe conspires to help you get it.

~Michael Neill

If a stick is floating down a river and gets stuck, it doesn't need years of therapy. It just needs a little nudge and then it will get back into the flow of the river.

~Michael Neill

We live in a world of thought, but we think we live in a world of external experience.

~Michael Neill

By taking the time to live life in the slow lane, we quickly experience a deeper, more profound experience of contentment.

~Michael Neill

And by letting go of trying to control the uncontrollable...you ironically increase...the probability of getting what you want.

~Michael Neill

There's nothing you need to do, be, have, get, change, practice, or learn in order to be happy, loving and whole.

~Michael Neill

You aren't afraid of what you think you're afraid of - you're afraid of what you think.

~Michael Neill

We create other people by how we listen to them

~Michael Neill

To be fully present with what is, is to be content... and to be content is to be blessed by everything that happens in life.

~Michael Neill

Whatever you can do with unhappiness, you can do better when you're happy.

~Michael Neill

If all you did was tell a lamppost your goals for each day, they would still be far more likely to happen.

~Michael Neill

Success is the process of having a wonderful experience going for, getting, and having what you want.

~Michael Neill

There aren't enough cookies in the world to make you feel loved and whole.

~Michael Neill

Inner success is the ongoing experience of love, happiness, fulfillment and well-being - the experience of joy in your everyday life.

~Michael Neill

Urgency is insecurity.

~Michael Neill

You are the expert on you.
