Multimedia scares me off.

~Michael Nesmith

Interviews are usually a follow-up, like a press junket or a publicity junket, or something like that, and I'm not doing any of that right now. I don't have any axes to grind.

~Michael Nesmith

You don't have to fight against being placed in a box any more than the number two has to fight against being the number three. I mean, two is not going to be the number three, ever.

~Michael Nesmith

As an artist, you don't think about the parabola or the arc you're describing or where you're going to ultimately end up, you're just kind of crawling around, seeing what's out there.

~Michael Nesmith

I just finished a novel, and I'm back kind of noodling on the screenplays. Screenplays are tough. I am making music, I'm just not sure what kind of music it is or where it's going.

~Michael Nesmith

It's important to be precise about words, because of the thought value of them-they frame and shape so much of the way we understand things.

~Michael Nesmith

There are more honest people and more good people than there are thieves and bad people. It's just always been that way.

~Michael Nesmith

I'm not performing now. What I do now is listen to music all day long. Listening is very nourishing to me. I might go back to perform, I might make another record. I've got a record half finished.

~Michael Nesmith

Behind every dark cloud there's usually rain

~Michael Nesmith

You have to have access to ideas. The Internet is facilitating that access to ideas. In 25 years, the way that data's going to flow back and forth, we don't quite understand yet.

~Michael Nesmith

If you love music, than you can play music.

~Michael Nesmith

I coined a word the other day, but I forgot what it was. It was a good one, it came to me in a dream.

~Michael Nesmith

The Internet provides the access to resources, so it's incumbent upon the people who control those resources to make sure that the economic engine stays intact.

~Michael Nesmith

I never feel like I have to hang on to the music. I don't expect that the music will go away. Ideas are the only thing I can point to that are permanent and fixed.

~Michael Nesmith

Just because you can thrill a toddler by chewing with your mouth open doesn't mean you should.

~Michael Nesmith

Buzzwords and cliches - those are stock in trade. There's nothing wrong with them.

~Michael Nesmith

Even when I take the path to go be a CEO for a month, or a CEO for a day- music is still there. It's an extremely important part of what I am.

~Michael Nesmith

Now DVD can represent more income than the box office - and typically does.

~Michael Nesmith

Typically what happens is, somebody drags an idea from the past that worked in an old set of logics that they try to apply to the new one. And it doesn't work.

~Michael Nesmith

The rock sitting on the shelf has potential because it can fall - it's the same way with the Internet. It has this potential. It's not really doing it yet, but it's about to.

~Michael Nesmith

Don't object so much, you'll live longer.

~Michael Nesmith

I'd play my nose now, but I'm... it's... my nose is... out being fixed!

~Michael Nesmith

If you really dig a chick, you should talk to her, not steal her picture.

~Michael Nesmith

First we'll escape, then we'll play baseball.

~Michael Nesmith

James McMurtry is a true Americana poet - actually he is a poet regardless of genre
