~Michael R. Burch

Donald Trump has taken the Peter Principle to unprecedented heights. Or is it depths?

~Michael R. Burch

If brevity is the soul of wit then brevity and levity are the whole of it.

~Michael R. Burch

It's not that every leaf must finally fall, it's just that we can never catch them all.

~Michael R. Burch

Trump appeals to the disaffected by loudly trumpet-ing what they want to hear: other people are always the problem, and the solution is to either put them in their proper place or get rid of them.

~Michael R. Burch

Toupe or not toupe for professional government: that is the hair-raising question created by Donald Trump's candidacy.

~Michael R. Burch

Many presidents have believed in God, but Donald Trump evidently believes that he is God.

~Michael R. Burch

Teddy Roosevelt spoke softly and carried a big stick; Donald Trump speaks loudly and carries a big shtick.

~Michael R. Burch

It's simply not true that Donald Trump has no experience in foreign affairs. Hell, two of his foreign affairs resulted in marriages!

~Michael R. Burch

When I was being bullied, I had to learn not to judge myself by the opinions of intolerant morons. Then I felt much better.

~Michael R. Burch

C'm'on lefties! Admit that Trump has been very tough on China. He has been especially tough on Chinese kids who slave away in sweatboxes, making his clothing lines.

~Michael R. Burch

What do we get when the Donald exposes his enormous ass? A trump roast.

~Michael R. Burch

Donald Trump just announced that if Republicans don't treat him fairly, he will resurrect the Whig party and run as its hair apparent.

~Michael R. Burch

Trump claims he'd be the "best jobs president that God ever created." But isn't his claim to fame firing people?

~Michael R. Burch

Every political card played by Jeb Bush has been Trumped; every political note played by The Donald has been Trumpeted.

~Michael R. Burch

Donald Trump's hairpiece has reportedly narrowed its list of running
