I will burn, but this is a mere incident. We shall continue our discussion in eternity.

~Michael Servetus

In the Bible, there is no mention of the Trinity. . . . We get to know God, not through our proud philosophical concepts, but through Christ.

~Michael Servetus

Man becomes weak or ill by accident as a consequence of the lack of resources. Even the most severally ill patients must be treated with the aim of restoring their health.

~Michael Servetus

To seek truth and to utter what one believes to be true can never be a crime. No one must be forced to accept a conviction. Conviction is free.

~Michael Servetus

May the Lord destroy all the tyrants of the church. Amen.

~Michael Servetus

Lutherans, whose arguments and mistakes will not be difficult to contest or discover, do not want to attribute any value to works, and they do not understand enough the scope of the justification.

~Michael Servetus

It is an invention of the devil, an infernal falsity for the destruction of all Christianity.

~Michael Servetus

Nothing can be found in the intellect if previously has not been found in the senses.

~Michael Servetus

May God in his mercy enable us without obstinacy to perceive our errors.

~Michael Servetus

There is therefore a tremendous mystery in the fact that God may be united with man and the man with God.

~Michael Servetus

Poor people always lose in struggles.

~Michael Servetus

Neither with those nor with the others, with all I agree and dissent; in all part of truth and part of error must be seen.

~Michael Servetus

I have seen with my own eyes how the pope was carried on the shoulders of the princes, with all the pomp, being adored in the streets by the surrounding people.
