That's why your middle finger close to your ring, coz it's either love or hate there ain't no in-between

~Mike Stud

Don't lose your happiness on the pursuit for more

~Mike Stud

Young, wild, and free, my whole life ahead of me. So I'm drinking heavily, steadily making memories.

~Mike Stud

My music is basically all about witty punchlines and lyric progression that is aimed to make you laugh or say "Woah."

~Mike Stud

I don't think we could have given a more honest version of ourselves to the world than we did for ["This Is Mike Stud"].

~Mike Stud

I basically try not to waste any lines in any of my songs, and I think the witty phrases and funny lyrics I have bring a smarter sound to college hip-hop.

~Mike Stud

With this project ["This Is Mike Stud"] in general, I tried to put my life on record. All of these things I'm going through right now, I used to dream about and didn't think could ever happen to me.

~Mike Stud

As I have continued to make music and progress as an artist, I think I am steadily getting better at expanding my lyrical content and defining who I am as an artist.

~Mike Stud

Songs will always become a story in some way. I think it's my strongpoint as a writer musically. I don't shy away from it. It's not really an effort. It's how I write songs.

~Mike Stud

I think there's a certain stigma that comes with being a white rapper and having a show.

~Mike Stud

A lot of these "reality shows" do a lot of producing scenes and producing things and drama and all that but we did the deal contingent that we wouldn't do that.

~Mike Stud

My music started out as a complete joke, so really all I was doing was going for witty punchlines to make all of my buddies laugh.

~Mike Stud

This show ["This Is Mike Stud"] will have a ton of layers that people who aren't necessarily my demographic will actually really appreciate...I'm really proud.

~Mike Stud

I didn't have musical upbringing. I never listened to music growing up, thinking "I want to make my own music". I just listened to music for pleasure.
