I'm a homebody. I'd rather be in the kitchen cooking than hanging out in a bar.

~Milo Ventimiglia

Sometimes I'm an ass, sometimes I'm sweet as peaches.

~Milo Ventimiglia

If you have your mind in the right direction, and your heart is full of the right kind of stuff, you'll succeed and you'll triumph over adversity, over really anything.

~Milo Ventimiglia

You have to pay attention to the work on the page and make it as good as possible because it could be your last.

~Milo Ventimiglia

When your a kid, everybody runs around with a red cape- we all wanted to be SUPERMAN or BATMAN.

~Milo Ventimiglia

I'm tough on the outside and soft on the inside [...] I'm really a shy guy.

~Milo Ventimiglia

I don't want to impose on anyone else and make anyone else emotional or anything. I tend to quietly cry, kind of turn away.

~Milo Ventimiglia

My sisters and mom raised me to respect women and open doors for them.

~Milo Ventimiglia

I think that any good storytelling lends itself to closing a chapter but also knowing that there's a few more volumes beyond that to dream off of.

~Milo Ventimiglia

Unless I'm running and yelling, then you really see how crooked my mouth is!

~Milo Ventimiglia

As an actor it's like, go with whatever excites you as an actor. What are you're going to invest yourself in as a character? What are you going to get into? Have a variety of characters to play.

~Milo Ventimiglia

I love being around people that contribute. It doesn't matter where the good idea comes from. A good idea is a good idea.

~Milo Ventimiglia

Given the loss of a child or the birth of a child or anything like that, I think it's just I'm more moved by life, the older I get, so it's easier to connect to the characters that I play.

~Milo Ventimiglia

The older I get, the easier it is to just be present in the moment, and understand what a man is going through.

~Milo Ventimiglia

I think we need to feel, to come together, to look at our differences as a benefit to who we are as people on the same planet.

~Milo Ventimiglia

I pretty much grew up in the Clubber Lang/Ivan Drago era. That was more my time. I've always been a fan of the films, even the fifth, that I know some people didn't care for, I've always enjoyed them.

~Milo Ventimiglia

It's an all-inclusive package, when you get to be creative and run a little country while you're on a set and doing it with people that you enjoy working with and you all have a say in it.

~Milo Ventimiglia

I try to find something in everyone that I play - even the most heinous ones. You have to find something that is real and vulnerable about everything that you play.

~Milo Ventimiglia

People forget that actors are actors, who are looking to put on the clothes and the character, and then shed it just as easily.

~Milo Ventimiglia

For me, what grabs my attention about the project is usually the character immediately and then the story, and then the people that are involved.

~Milo Ventimiglia

I used to sit when I was a kid, from 14 or 15 on, with a book or a paper or a magazine in front of a mirror and teach myself to speak with a more straight mouth, so it wasn't so pronounced.

~Milo Ventimiglia

My job is always going to change; the characters that I'm playing are always going to change. I look forward to playing a grandfather at some point.

~Milo Ventimiglia

In THE WHISPERS, I played a father, with an amazingly talented actor, Kyle Breitkopf. I've played a dad a lot, so it's nice again to be in that world [in This Is Us].

~Milo Ventimiglia

I try to be good to myself. Look, we're human and people have differences.

~Milo Ventimiglia

I was never one to stand on a soap box and say, "This is how you need to live your life!" It was never about that.

~Milo Ventimiglia

You have to have sympathy for the villain. Even the most disgusting ones, you have to find something to connect with. I try to put as much of myself in every single character that I play.
