The difference between the truth and a lie is that both of them can hurt, but only one will take the time to heal you afterward.

~Mira Grant

I've got no problem with octopuses. It's bugs and spiders that I don't like. Octopuses are cute, in their own 'nature did a lot of drugs' sort of way." - Becks

~Mira Grant

My mother once told me that no woman is naked when she comes equipped with a bad mood and a steady glare.

~Mira Grant

Be good. Be kind to each other. And if there's somebody you love, tell them. The world always needs more love.

~Mira Grant

I guess in the end, it doesn't matter what we wanted. What matters is what we chose to do with the things we had.

~Mira Grant

Think about that for a moment. They died for you. Now take a good look at the life you're living and tell me: Did they do the right thing?

~Mira Grant

Everyone thinks of them in terms of poisoned apples and glass coffins, and forgets that they represent girls who walked into dark forests and remade them into their own reflections.

~Mira Grant

Pronouns are only useful when you combine them with other words. I have a few I can give you, if you're at a loss.

~Mira Grant

The only thing we have in this world that is utterly and intrinsically ours is our integrity.

~Mira Grant

I feel the closest to crazy when I'm disagreeing with the voice in my head

~Mira Grant

Sorry...I got distracted listening to you and hot glued myself to my unicorn

~Mira Grant

I'm a decent sprinter and I can gun a motorcycle from zero to suicidal in less than ten seconds.

~Mira Grant

I require something so horrifically alcoholic that it makes livers tremble with fear and run for their lives when its name is uttered.

~Mira Grant

We are a nation equally afraid of gathering together and being alone.

~Mira Grant

Rose goblins are built like porcupines - if you rub them the right way, you don't have to worry about the spines. They're sort of like people in that regard, too.â€‹

~Mira Grant

We all make mistakes. Luckily for us, there are very few mistakes that cant be solved with a suitable application of either lipstick or hand grenades" - Frances Brown

~Mira Grant

That's Becks. Always ready to offer a helping headshot.

~Mira Grant

Dramatic exits are the last refuge of the infantile personality

~Mira Grant

I'm also fascinated by the difference between terror and fear. Fear says, "Do not actually put your hand in the alligator," while terror says, "Avoid Florida entirely because alligators exist."

~Mira Grant

If you want to go foraging into the wilds of Canada without proper gear, you deserve what you get, even if that happens to include being attacked by an undead moose.

~Mira Grant

There is nothing truer in this world than the love of a good dog.

~Mira Grant

One man's gospel truth is another man's blasphemous lie. The dangerous thing about people is the way we'll try to kill anyone whose truth doesn't agree with ours.

~Mira Grant

Alive or dead, the truth won't rest. Rise up while you can.

~Mira Grant

And then everything was in the hands of gravity, which has never had much love for the terminally stupid.

~Mira Grant

The laws of physics have already been violated. What happens if they decide to press charges?

~Mira Grant

I'm not body-shy -- it's hard to grow up in the Summerlands, where clothes are solidly optional, and stay body-shy -- but that doesn't mean I enjoy nudity. Naked people are, by definition, unarmed.â€‹

~Mira Grant

Any man who doesn't believe in carrying weapons on a first date is not a man worth knowing.

~Mira Grant

When Rome burned, the emperor's cats still expected to be fed on time.

~Mira Grant

Sometimes, the hardest habit to break is the habit of doing nothing beyond the necessary.

~Mira Grant

You are truly endearing when you sleep. I attribute this to the exotic nature of seeing you in a state of silence. â€”Tybalt

~Mira Grant

You can't kill the truth.

~Mira Grant

There is a list of things I'm not allowed to discuss at the dinner table! I am extraordinarily passionate about the Black Death, which is not something most people are into.

~Mira Grant

...even saying good-bye isn't enough. There's always one more thing you should have had the time to say, or do, or ask. There's always going to be that one missing piece.

~Mira Grant

There is nothing so patient, in this world or any other, as a virus searching for a host.

~Mira Grant

I've seen that mixture of resignation and hopelessness before; its usually in my mirror.

~Mira Grant

You'd challenge me and lose. You know it, I know it, but you'd still do it. Sometimes your sense of honor confuses the hell out of me.

~Mira Grant

It's not hard to marginalize people when they've already done it to themselves.

~Mira Grant

Blood is one thing, but that's not all that goes into family. The family you choose is the family that really matters. They're the ones who'll keep you standing.

~Mira Grant

It felt odd to be laughing during a firefight. Then again, if you can't laugh when you're about to die, when can you?

~Mira Grant

This is Shaun Mason activating security protocol Campbell. The bridge is out, the trees are coming, and I'm pretty sure my hand is evil. Now gimme some sugar, baby.

~Mira Grant

Well, that's not something you see every day. Go tell your father that Grandma needs the grenades.

~Mira Grant

Children's games are stronger than you remember once you've grown up and left them behind. They're always fair, and never kind.

~Mira Grant

That's the beauty of the future. We get to change it.

~Mira Grant

There's no such thing as a normal life. Some lives are just more interesting than others, and we shouldn't judge people for being boring.

~Mira Grant

I would love a sandwich,' said Tybalt, with enough gravity to make it sound like a formal proclamation. Resolved: that we will have ham and cheese sandwiches.

~Mira Grant

He said that he was sure you would be amendable to this course of action." April paused, eyes widening, before she said indignantly, "I believe he may have lied to me!

~Mira Grant

April frowned, irritation evident. "I did not consent to your presence," she said peevishly. "Please depart, and attempt your political assassination on someone else's property.

~Mira Grant

Tybalt's what we call "Cait Sidhe" the fairy cats. Which explains the attitude. And the eyes. "Meow," said Tybalt, deadpan.

~Mira Grant

...a truth you don't understand is more dangerous than a lie.

~Mira Grant

Well, that's that, then. We're all going to die. Charming.

~Mira Grant

How many miles to Babylon? Three-score and ten. Can I get there by candle-light? Yes, there and back again. If your heels are nimble and light, You will get there by candle-light

~Mira Grant

Etienne gave me lessons. Three of them. Then he said I was a menace and refused to teach me anything more for fear that I'd slice his head off.

~Mira Grant

Failure to die is always appreciated.

~Mira Grant

She told the truth as she saw it, and she died for it. I came along for the ride, and I lived. It wasn't worth it. But it was the truth, and it was what had to happen.

~Mira Grant

It is what it is. Isn't that how these things always go? They are what they are. We just get to cope.

~Mira Grant

A martyr's just a casualty with really good PR.

~Mira Grant

There weren't any fairy tales in the streets around me. If there was ever a Cinderella, her glass slippers shattered under her weight and she limped home bleeding from the ball.

~Mira Grant

Time never runs backward when I need it to. Not for me, and not for anyone else.

~Mira Grant

Most guys my age have girlfriends and drinking buddies on their speed dial. Me, I have the Memphis CDC.
