It's fascinating how much of our sense of attractiveness and feminine identity is bound up in our hair.

~Natalie Dormer

Perfect is very boring, and if you happen to have a different look, that's a celebration of human nature, I think. If we were all symmetrical and perfect, life would be very dull.

~Natalie Dormer

I was a daydreamer as a kid. I want to act because of whatever artistic bone is in my body. I want to explore what it is to be alive. I just want to make good sh-t.

~Natalie Dormer

I know I'm not a conventional beauty. You can read a lot of painful things on the Internet, which criticise you aesthetically - but as far as I'm concerned, that's not what an actress is.

~Natalie Dormer

I know people think that acting is not quite the occupation of grown-ups, but it is actually the ultimate learning process: You get a multitude of experiences, all for the price of one life.

~Natalie Dormer

I've always been a black sheep. That's a hard thing to be until you find your calling in life. I was bullied a lot at school, probably because I was perceived to be different from everyone else.

~Natalie Dormer

I love going out of my comfort zoneâ€”I live to go out of my comfort zone. Obviously, you have quieter years than othersâ€”you don't go jumping out of a plane every day.

~Natalie Dormer

Every role affects an actor a little bit. There's always a little chunk of a character that stays left over in your heart.

~Natalie Dormer

You can be a good human being and just be shrewd.

~Natalie Dormer

I feel like I've really earned my stripes - I feel ready to play a lead. I would just love to prove I'm good enough to carry a project.

~Natalie Dormer

I don't think you have to live in the fantasy world of Westeros to have problems with your mother-in-law.

~Natalie Dormer

These are moments in your life to be cherished; they don't come around that often. To be flying around in a 'Game of Thrones' jet, to be greeted by massive enthusiasts.

~Natalie Dormer

No one thinks that they're a monster. No one thinks that of themselves. Everyone has an earnest belief that it would be better if they were in power.

~Natalie Dormer

The Tudorsâ€•) â€œI walked away thinking, well, if I don't get the job, it doesn't matter - I've kissed Jonathan Rhys Meyers!

~Natalie Dormer

Women need to have access to counseling services in the way that American or British women can have if something really bad or upsetting happens to them.

~Natalie Dormer

I was frequently told at drama school that I was thinking too much.

~Natalie Dormer

I had a period of unemployment for about nine months after my first big break, and it's the greatest lesson I ever could have learned, never to believe you're home and dry.

~Natalie Dormer

I'm sure it's there traced along my career. I'm sure it is in most actresses' careers.

~Natalie Dormer

When you play a real person, you feel a sense of responsibility that obviously you don't feel when you're playing a fictional character.

~Natalie Dormer

I started writing In Darkness out of a frustration of the quality of roles that I was reading in scripts for women.

~Natalie Dormer

I just want to play real human beings. You know, I don't care if they're male or female.

~Natalie Dormer

Isn't it lovely to know that even the great Sherlock Holmes, the quirky and genius Sherlock Holmes, is vulnerable to love as we all are?

~Natalie Dormer

I do yoga weekly. I don't know who I'd be without yoga and running.

~Natalie Dormer

I say I'm an atheist but I wouldn't mind being visited by a ghost.

~Natalie Dormer

There's been a sort of mini-revolution, an uprising, as was long overdue, about these subject matters: ethnicity and gender equality.

~Natalie Dormer

I feel that we live in an age where everyone's trying to reduce, and soundbite, and cut it down to 140 characters, and that's not what life is.

~Natalie Dormer

A character on a page has to feel real, and for me the greatest fun is if you could gender-swap the role.

~Natalie Dormer

Problems reconciling mom and the wife are difficult in the best of times.

~Natalie Dormer

I have been to Canada several times. It was autumn when I visited Vancouver and I will always remember the colour of the trees in British Columbia were stunning.

~Natalie Dormer

I do as much research as is physically possible when I'm playing a real person, be they alive or dead.

~Natalie Dormer

Jennifer Lawrence is just the coolest girl. Everyone forgets how young she is because she's so together, such an old soul. She just gets it. She's one savvy chick.

~Natalie Dormer

For me, the sexiest men don't know they're drop-dead gorgeous. Not that I'd ever rule out a pot-bellied plumber in the right circumstances.

~Natalie Dormer

As an actor, your text is your bible, so you're not making a documentary, but you still have to follow the choices made by your writer.

~Natalie Dormer

You're adored and you're talented and the world is waiting to see the results of hard work for the last year

~Natalie Dormer

I started writing it, because it was seven years ago. But yes, that is the genesis of why I started writing.

~Natalie Dormer

You don't want the white men to be written in a three-dimensional way but the black men, not. I mean, it's just about [how] scripts should always reflect real human beings. So that's what I look for.

~Natalie Dormer

I think the beauty of the writing of 'Game of Thrones' is not that the characters are fearless; it's how they overcome their fear, you know?

~Natalie Dormer

I think we have to monitor our minds the way we need to monitor our bodies.

~Natalie Dormer

If you're a loner and you like to go off and run on your own, do that.

~Natalie Dormer

I've been a member of some good gyms in the past. I love a good spinning class; I love a good aerobics class.

~Natalie Dormer

I have Margaery Tyrell's - I didn't take it, I was given it - but yes, David [Benioff] and Dan [Weiss] gave me Margaery Tyrell's wedding crown. So that is sitting on my bookshelf.

~Natalie Dormer

We're getting caught up with labels: "Nudity: bad." It's not about "nudity: bad." It's about gratuitous oversexualization of children; it's complicated.

~Natalie Dormer

I go to yoga classes as well as practicing myself. I'm always open to new experiences and when I'm in different cities shooting, I try some local classes sometimes.

~Natalie Dormer

I buy the odd book. There's a great book out at the moment called Ego Is the Enemy.

~Natalie Dormer

I don't believe in nudity for nudity's sake, nothing gratuitous.

~Natalie Dormer

I started writing it six and a half years ago, so the landscape has changed a lot in that time.

~Natalie Dormer

We accept women being complete c-nts if they're doing it for a child.

~Natalie Dormer

We don't have enough young, female antiheroes. We don't accept women as antiheroes the way we do the men.

~Natalie Dormer

I was a very physical child... I was a tree-climber; I was a tomboy.

~Natalie Dormer

Three-dimensional, complex women get an audience engaged as much as the men. I'm a feminist in the true sense of the word. It's about equality.

~Natalie Dormer

I've spent a lot of recreational time walking around historical castles and estates, in Britain and Europe, and so I know what the real thing looks like

~Natalie Dormer

I'm not clever enough to be in machinations and real politics.

~Natalie Dormer

I meditate but not regularly. I wish I did more meditation. It's always my New Year's resolution to do more.

~Natalie Dormer

I think classes can be the most fun. And if you want to make it a social thing and you want to go with friends, then that's the way to do it.

~Natalie Dormer

There's no right or wrong, exercise is exercise and it's incredibly healthy for you and, you know, society. And it's a positive thing, so however you want to do it, each individual to themselves.

~Natalie Dormer

Feminist, whatever the definition, whatever you call yourself - I am, I'm not - none of us want little girls being forced into early marriage before they're 12.

~Natalie Dormer

I don't think you can be a diver without a shark on the list.

~Natalie Dormer

You don't want the men to be written in a three-dimensional way and the women, not.
