Missions: The Word of God from the heart of God to the heart of man through a consecrated, dedicated, and pure vessel.

~Nick Frost

I always think I could play a fantastic psychopath. I'd like to play a psycho. With a heart, you know. A caring lunatic.

~Nick Frost

I'm sure people would argue this, but I want to be different in everything I do. I don't think I've been the same in anything I've done, and I want to keep that up.

~Nick Frost

In the early 2000s, I was introduced to the noble art of kickboxing, it thrilled me, and I loved it. I loved the honour and the discipline, and I also loved the punching.

~Nick Frost

I wanted to write rather than do anything else. But 'cause I left school at 15, I didn't know what a noun was, still don't.

~Nick Frost

I think some people see me as being some kind of lovable, bumbling buffoon, and I'm actually quite mouthy and sharp, and that doesn't compute.

~Nick Frost

I am a geek in terms of, I love 'Close Encounters' and I love 'Star Wars,' but other things... 'Doctor Who,' I don't really care about at all, I couldn't give a fig about it.

~Nick Frost

I am a hard house freak and I don't care who knows.

~Nick Frost

And remember, the people that you've seen here tonight are professionals, so please don't try any of this at home, because you are ugly and hung like a hamster.

~Nick Frost

The fight scenes in 'The World's End' have a certain balletic quality to them.

~Nick Frost

I would be happy living on a massive ranch in Montana and not seeing anyone except my friends and family.

~Nick Frost

Someone once pulled me aside and said it was all right to succeed, and I realised that I knew what failure felt like, but I didn't know what success felt like. I've carried that with me ever since.

~Nick Frost

I like to go home early, that's my thing. My idea of a pub crawl lasts from midday until 5 P.M., then I can go home, play with my kid, have tea and go to bed.

~Nick Frost

The older I get, the less I remember.

~Nick Frost

I find acting tough, but sitting around chatting - that's easy.

~Nick Frost

The zeitgeist is ever-changing. If you try second guess what people want, you'll miss it.

~Nick Frost

I would agree Paul is a sci-fi genre movie. And a road movie.

~Nick Frost

I like to think I'm some savage realist.

~Nick Frost

As a kid, I wasn't listening to The Who; I was listening to Frankie Knuckles.

~Nick Frost

I'm usually up at 6 A.M., even on the weekend.

~Nick Frost

It's a very special thing when you go and get to work with your best friend every day.

~Nick Frost

I'm not good at meeting people, and I'm not good at small talk.

~Nick Frost

I'd be happy doing anything on a film set.

~Nick Frost

I don't describe myself as a sociable person now. I can be quite... you know... grumpy? Is that a word? I guess I can be a bit grumpy.

~Nick Frost

People presume just because you're a bigger bloke that you wouldn't be physically fit or up for the fight, but that couldn't be further from the truth.

~Nick Frost

I don't see the point of being an actor and doing the same thing, all the time. Where's the challenge there?

~Nick Frost

My scripts are always heavily noted. If I can take a director to one side and say, "Do you mind if we try this?," a few days before, that's usually a better way of doing it then on the day.

~Nick Frost

A lot of people who do drama say comedy is the hardest thing, but, not wanting to sound like a bighead, comedy is easy for me, as I've always been fairly funny.

~Nick Frost

Even though I didn't write 'Shaun Of The Dead' and 'Hot Fuzz,' I never felt left out of the creative process.

~Nick Frost

God's greatest tragedy is the creation of mankind.

~Nick Frost

There's a difference between watching a film and watching a bit of cinema and enjoying a film as a piece of cinema.

~Nick Frost

I'd like to play the voice of the Iron in the Monopoly movie.

~Nick Frost

I love Twitter; I'm on Twitter quite a lot.

~Nick Frost

I love working. I feel guilty about doing nothing; I get bored.

~Nick Frost

If you think about America, it is about getting your backpack on and heading out.

~Nick Frost

People are not going to like everything.

~Nick Frost

I don't regret anything that I've turned down, and I don't regret anything that I've done, really.

~Nick Frost

I was an amazing bartender and a great waiter. I think, in a way, that was my acting school.

~Nick Frost

I'm comedy's forgotten nearly man.

~Nick Frost

It's nice to have someone write a couture character for you.

~Nick Frost

My formative years were all about 'Star Wars' - the first three, not the last crap, obviously. I understood 'Star Trek' but it was too caricatured for me.

~Nick Frost

I fall in love with every film while I'm doing it. I fall in love with the directors, I fall in love with the process. I don't think I could do it otherwise.
