Uncertainty is where things happen. It is where the opportunities - for success, for happiness, for really living - are waiting.

~Oliver Burkeman

The effort to try to feel happy is often precisely the thing that makes us miserable.

~Oliver Burkeman

True security lies in the unrestrained embrace of insecurity - in the recognition that we never really stand on solid ground, and never can.

~Oliver Burkeman

...It's more important than ever that we find new ways to cultivate curiosity - because our careers, our happiness, and our children's flourishing all depend upon it.
