You have sat too long for any good you have been doing. Depart, I say, and let us have done with you. In the name of God, go!

~Oliver Cromwell

He who stops being better stops being good.

~Oliver Cromwell

Catholicism is more than a religion, it is a political power. Therefore I'm led to believe there will be no peace in Ireland until the Catholic Church is crushed

~Oliver Cromwell

Subtlety may deceive you; integrity never will.

~Oliver Cromwell

I have learned that if you fear God, you have no one else to fear.

~Oliver Cromwell

I desire not to keep my place in this government an hour longer than I may preserve England in its just rights, and may protect the people of God in such a just liberty of their consciences.

~Oliver Cromwell

Work hard, trust in God, and keep your bowels open.

~Oliver Cromwell

I beseech you, in the bowels of Christ, think it possible you may be mistaken.

~Oliver Cromwell

A man never rises higher than when he does not know whither his path can still lead him.

~Oliver Cromwell

The State, in choosing men to serve it, takes no notice of their opinions. If they be willing faithfully to serve it, that satisfies.

~Oliver Cromwell

Keep your faith in God, but keep your powder dry.

~Oliver Cromwell

Ye may have skill in the nature of things, yet nature can do more than all physicians put together; and God is far more above nature.

~Oliver Cromwell

A few honest men are better than numbers.

~Oliver Cromwell

Do not trust the cheering, for those persons would shout as much if you or I were going to be hanged.

~Oliver Cromwell

I had rather have a plain, russet-coated Captain, that knows what he fights for, and loves what he knows, than that which you call a Gentle-man and is nothing else.

~Oliver Cromwell

Those who stop being better stop being good.

~Oliver Cromwell

I have not the particular shining bauble or feather in my cap for crowds to gaze at or kneel to, but I have power and resolution for foes to tremble at.

~Oliver Cromwell

A man-of-war is the best ambassador.

~Oliver Cromwell

What is all our histories, but God showing himself, shaking and trampling on everything that he has not planted.

~Oliver Cromwell

On becoming soldiers we have not ceased to be citizens.

~Oliver Cromwell

WEEDS AND NETTLES, BRIARS AND THORNS, HAVE THRIVEN UNDER YOUR SHADOW, DISSETTLEMENT AND DIVISION, DISCONTENTMENT AND DISSATISFACTION, TOGETHER WITH REAL DANGERS TO THE WHOLE.

~Oliver Cromwell

Because I fear God, I have no man to fear.

~Oliver Cromwell

Our swords are in God's hands, And our faith is in the Lord. Charge!

~Oliver Cromwell

There isn't a tree to hang a man, water to drown a man nor soil to bury a man

~Oliver Cromwell

Make the iron hot by striking it.

~Oliver Cromwell

For that which you mention concerning liberty of conscience, I meddle not with any man's conscience.

~Oliver Cromwell

Some people have food, but no appetite; others have an appetite, but no food. I have both. The Lord be praised.

~Oliver Cromwell

Necessity has no law.

~Oliver Cromwell

He who ceases to be better, ceases to be good.

~Oliver Cromwell

Royalty is but a feather in a man's cap; let children enjoy their rattle.

~Oliver Cromwell

My prayer is that God give me no longer life than I shall be glad to use mine office in edification, and not in destruction.

~Oliver Cromwell

I was by birth a gentleman, living neither in any considerable height nor yet in obscurity.

~Oliver Cromwell

No one rises so high as he who knows not whither he is going.

~Oliver Cromwell

I would have been glad to have lived under my wood side, and to have kept a flock of sheep, rather than to have undertaken this government.

~Oliver Cromwell

Who can love to walk in the dark? But providence doth often so dispose.

~Oliver Cromwell

My desire is to make what haste I can to be gone.

~Oliver Cromwell

Necessity hath no law. Feigned necessities, imaginary necessities, are the greatest cozenage men can put upon the Providence of God, and make pretences to break known rules by.

~Oliver Cromwell

THE PEOPLE WOULD BE JUST AS NOISY IF THEY WERE GOING TO SEE ME HANGED.
