Actors are intelligent. Yet, many of them do not communicate well. That's what makes it so hard to have a relationship with one.

~Omari Hardwick

I think, by nature you know, I'm very attracted and I gravitate toward the very strong girl who can watch a ballgame, but who's also extremely feminine.

~Omari Hardwick

If reality shows are so popular, that means their viewers are screaming for more realness.

~Omari Hardwick

My priorities are leaning more towards family, and I credit my southern upbringing to that. I was raised in the church as well, and God plays a big role in my upbringing and my life.

~Omari Hardwick

What we have as artists is the immortalization opportunity that others don't have, because our work is lasting; it's there forever to view.

~Omari Hardwick

For me, I'm always looking for the opportunity for a character that challenges me and lets me play two for the price of one.

~Omari Hardwick

Poetry has, in a way, been my bridge to my acting career.

~Omari Hardwick

The reason why people don't get called back to sequels is because they did badly in the original [movie].

~Omari Hardwick

When it's all said and done, I am secure enough with my manhood to say to the world, "I am a male actor, and its okay for me to play a gay man."

~Omari Hardwick

I've been described as a smart actor because I've attended college. Or I've been called an artsy jock. And I am thinking, 'So, are actors supposed to be dumb?
