The first view is "bad apple." Bad apple is excusable. It's sort of like, something went bad with this man. But the second option is police corruption, so it's a problem with the department.

~Oren Moverman

I have no idea what the next project will be and if there's a next project. I don't even know if we're all going to be here tomorrow, but I'm pretty optimistic.

~Oren Moverman

I'm looking into a different actor's eyes every couple days, and I'm learning so much just to see the different processes people go through, and how their acting works for them.

~Oren Moverman

It's not a big secret that what's lacking and what's wrong in our society starts with education.

~Oren Moverman

I think the most emotional part in making the movie and discovering the movie - because it was a process of discovering - is all the scenes with the family.

~Oren Moverman

The damage that we do in the service of whatever motivates us in life has a direct effect, mostly on our kids.

~Oren Moverman

It's tough to be an actor and it's tough to portray a real person, and it's tough to play two people adding up to one person.

~Oren Moverman

I enjoy the process of writing collaboration so there's some stuff that already that may happen and then some stuff that I'm initiating that I may write on my own.

~Oren Moverman

If you look at it that way, then you start thinking about the basic things, which are jobs not jails, and education not incarceration.
