Life is not easy. Life is very harsh. We have to be strong. Otherwise, life will destroy us.

~Osama Alomar

I'm homesick. But I cannot go back to Syria. I lost everything. And I'm against the Syrian regime, so there is no way to go back. I'm really homesick.

~Osama Alomar

Despite everything - despite all this hatred, despite all this misunderstanding between nations and civilizations - I think love is the end. Love is the end.

~Osama Alomar

As a writer, my weapon is my pen. I want to create more awareness about the people in Syria. This is the most important issue: protecting civilians in this crazy war.

~Osama Alomar

There's a lot of sympathy, but some people in America don't care. They think Syria is a very faraway place and that it's none of their business.

~Osama Alomar

I write in Arabic and prefer writing my stories by hand. I need a cup of tea or coffee when I write. When I was in Syria, I was addicted to tea, but now I'm addicted to Starbucks.
