I live in a state of hypersensitivity, and I've always had this feeling that something bad is going to happen to myself, or my wife and children. This manifests itself in different fears and visions.

~Paddy Considine

I can't afford to step away from acting, but the one thing I've learnt after all these years is that I don't fit in. It's very difficult to be at the mercy of other people's whims and visions.

~Paddy Considine

My fascination is not for cinema; it's for human nature and human beings because I find it quite difficult being one at times.

~Paddy Considine

You walk past people in streets, or they serve you in shops, and you know nothing about the horrors they may be living with.

~Paddy Considine

Being a director is almost like being another sort of character, but you're out of view.

~Paddy Considine

What's my dilemma here? Am I making entertainment or am I making art? What am I saying? At the end of the day, cinema is entertainment for millions of people, but for me it's expression.

~Paddy Considine

All you've got to do is turn up and have a few facial tics and be a lunatic and throw someone around the room or blow their brains out and people think it's good acting.

~Paddy Considine

I watched 'Rocky' and 'Raging Bull' and 'Taxi Driver' over and over again. They spoke to you, man.

~Paddy Considine

People can very quickly have a very poor self-image. It doesn't take much.
