An overblown conscience is an empty conscience.

~Pascal Bruckner

The cult of happiness turns into a huge concern which to my opinion is exactly contrary to what happiness should be: a paradise of enchantment.

~Pascal Bruckner

You don't have to give people fish everyday but instead you must give them the pole to learn how to fish themselves.

~Pascal Bruckner

You're happy when you leave your concerns to the side and when you experience a pure moment of joy with friends.

~Pascal Bruckner

We should distinguish between responsibility and guilt. Guilt only touches the ones who committed the crimes but the son of a criminal is not a criminal himself.

~Pascal Bruckner

Guilt is a very good thing if it is shared by others.

~Pascal Bruckner

Remorse is extremely useful for a generation which has in fact dirtied its hands but for the next generation you cannot ask, for instance, young Germans today to feel guilty about Hitlerism.

~Pascal Bruckner

Whatever the flows of our modern times are the idea is that you can create something new out of nothing.

~Pascal Bruckner

Frustration is a bad experience. What you have to stress is the satisfaction.

~Pascal Bruckner

You construct your happiness as you construct a house and you have to work on it. It is a daily job.
