

Patricia Arquette

Quotes

People, Thinking, Kids, Want, Rights, America, Years, Children, Men, Mom, Struggle, Beautiful, Actors, Mean, Mother, United States, California, Love Is, World, Strong

To every woman who gave birth, to every citizen and taxpayer, it's our time to have wage equality once and for all and equal rights for women of the United States of America!

~Patricia Arquette

The interesting thing about cybercrime and the whole cyber world is that many of the people that are most proficient in it are young people, really young people.

~Patricia Arquette

I grew up in a hippie commune so I have a real hippie part of me.

~Patricia Arquette

The Hope, Love & Healing necklace is the perfect embodiment of what we are trying to bring to Haiti through safe and sustainable housing, sanitation solutions, and water filtration devices.

~Patricia Arquette

I know I love my kids and I know they love me. I know I have beautiful friends and a great family, and I know I've been really blessed in this life.

~Patricia Arquette

I think there can always be beauty in struggle.

~Patricia Arquette

Love is a vulnerable thing. Falling in love is like a great drug. But then to really be known and really let someone else be known is very vulnerable. It's a weird thing.

~Patricia Arquette

We all have our own little thing, I think.

~Patricia Arquette

I don't have a goal but I just want to work on movies that I really like.

~Patricia Arquette

Mothering is one of the most beautiful experiences of my life.

~Patricia Arquette

I'm supporting anyone except Donald Trump.

~Patricia Arquette

I was a single mom at 20. A lot of choices came out of that. I've seen a lot of my friends be in relationships they didn't want to be in because they couldn't leave.

~Patricia Arquette

There's no doubt that there's a struggling in birth, and a beauty and a horror and fear and joy too.

~Patricia Arquette

I was raised by somebody with the perception of trying to allow me the space and show me the importance of knowing who I was and figuring out who I was and appreciating who I was.

~Patricia Arquette

The way your parents try to talk to you about politics and pull you to their side, that's an exciting moment in your family.

~Patricia Arquette

I'm not a technical person. It's not something I personally do love. I'm actually terrified of it, and that is what's interesting to me about it.

~Patricia Arquette

A six year old can probably do more on their iPad than you can do and access more. My daughter's swiping away windows and doing all these things that I don't know how to do.

~Patricia Arquette

Young people - there's been very little places in positions of authority in law enforcement for young people's skill sets, but the truth is we need them.

~Patricia Arquette

It's going to take from 40 to 118 years for the pay gap to close for women if we just go along with the status quo, so we need some serious, radical change.

~Patricia Arquette

If somebody needs, like, a phone call every day or some kind of constant companionship, I'm not a really good friend for them. I can talk to my best friend every couple years and be really happy.

~Patricia Arquette

Hippy people had a hopeful idea of what they wanted the world to be like, then most of them changed into corporate Yuppies. But I still have that hippy thing underneath somewhere.

~Patricia Arquette

Neither of us entered marriage thinking it wouldn't be a strain. Life has strains in it, and he's the person I want to strain with.

~Patricia Arquette

Every day that a woman is making less money, that's less money she has in retirement.

~Patricia Arquette

I don't read my reviews, but I have a bunch of them and I will when I'm 80.

~Patricia Arquette

I'm the only nerd with a piece of paper.

~Patricia Arquette

Women have more rights, and women do have their own power in the world.

~Patricia Arquette

You always have to sign contracts for several years, if they want to pick you up. It's kind of a strange scenario. They have the option or not.

~Patricia Arquette

I'm kind of the long-hauler type of person. I also have a strong work ethic and gratitude for people that I work with.

~Patricia Arquette

The good news is that we have a very active part of America that wants some radical progress.

~Patricia Arquette

I'm very grateful to have my kids in my life; they're my greatest teachers. But to pretend it's always easy is just not really true.

~Patricia Arquette

In the United States we have more women in poverty than any other industrialized nation.

~Patricia Arquette

We have states that are throwing away the DNA of rapists. How can a woman be so inconsequential, that we as a nation aren't standing up and doing something about this intimate, violent act?

~Patricia Arquette

It's important for me as an actor to be able to make a living.

~Patricia Arquette

The average woman loses a half million dollars over a lifetime, but women with higher degrees lose $2 million over a lifetime.

~Patricia Arquette

Part of what I love about getting older is realizing that there's something perfect in the imperfection. It's all very human.

~Patricia Arquette

Love is a vulnerable thing. Falling in love is like a great drug.

~Patricia Arquette

When the woman is getting paid drastically less than the male, that whole family is impacted.

~Patricia Arquette

There are a lot of parts of who I am that no one in the public has ever known, but the older I've gotten, the more I've appreciated my own strange little self and come to terms with that.

~Patricia Arquette

As a teenager, you have so much energy and hormones and you feel powerless in your life.

~Patricia Arquette

It's always beautiful to see people striving to grow.

~Patricia Arquette

I find that men are far more vain than women.

~Patricia Arquette

A lot of being an actor is being something that people imagine you to be.

~Patricia Arquette

I know that I've had a very fortunate life, but also I think my job as an actor is to connect emotionally to human beings.

~Patricia Arquette

I'm excited about the state of women's spiritual life and interior life and who women are. I wish the political establishment would catch up, because we still don't have equal rights in America.

~Patricia Arquette

You want your partner to objectify you.

~Patricia Arquette

The United States has more women and girls in prison than any other industrialized nation on earth.

~Patricia Arquette

I hope some of your DNA transferred to me.

~Patricia Arquette

Related Links:

- People Quotes
- Thinking Quotes
- Kids Quotes
- Want Quotes
- Rights Quotes
- America Quotes
- Years Quotes
- Children Quotes
- Men Quotes
- Mom Quotes
- Struggle Quotes
- Beautiful Quotes
- Actors Quotes
- Mean Quotes
- Mother Quotes
- United States Quotes
- California Quotes
- Love Is Quotes
- World Quotes
- Strong Quotes