I don't love you anymore. Goodbye.

~Patrick Marber

Alice: It's the only way to leave. "I don't love you anymore. Goodbye."

Dan: Supposing you do still love them? Alice: You don't leave.

~Patrick Marber

Alice: I don't love you anymore. Goodbye. Dan: Since when? Alice: Now. Just now.

~Patrick Marber

I used to go with my parents and loved it, I was in school plays, and I started reading plays before I started reading novels. I'll defend it to the hilt. When theatre is good it is fabulous.

~Patrick Marber

Theatre is how I first encountered art on any level.

~Patrick Marber

A couple of flop plays, a death in the family, and it could all collapse.

~Patrick Marber

I'm a Golden Globe nominee, yes. It's very nice. It's a very nice thing, but I kind of think of all the awards I wasn't ever nominated for, for years and things.

~Patrick Marber

When I look back I can't believe I was so stupid as to direct Dealer's Choice.

~Patrick Marber

When you're in your early 20s your love life seems to explode every 20 minutes or so. By the time you've reached your thirties, it is every five or ten years.

~Patrick Marber

Well, you just know, as a writer, I didn't really write one of the five best screenplays of the year. There were lots of brilliant screenplays; I was just one of the lucky ones who got nominated.

~Patrick Marber

I'm constantly having to be vigilant with a depressive tendency, an addictive tendency.

~Patrick Marber

What's so great about the truth? Try lying for a change, it's the currency of the world.

~Patrick Marber

I love everything about you that hurts.

~Patrick Marber

Thank God life endsâ€”we'd never survive it. From Big Bang to weary shag, the history of the world. Our flesh is ferocious...our bodies will kill us...our bones will outlive us.

~Patrick Marber

Everything is a version of something else.

~Patrick Marber

Where is this love? I can't see it, I can't touch it. I can't feel it. I can hear it. I can hear some words, but I can't do anything with your easy words

~Patrick Marber

I like the varying rhythm of being a writer that you have a period of being in complete isolation where it's just you and the book and your screenplay and no-one can read it.

~Patrick Marber

I'm a happily married man and I think to get married you have to be optimistic.

~Patrick Marber

I don't want to lie. I can't tell the truth. So it's over.

~Patrick Marber

It's one of the reasons I don't do drugs. One sniff and I'd go all the way.

~Patrick Marber

I think you owe me something for deceiving me so exquisitely.

~Patrick Marber

Lying is the most fun a girl can have without taking her clothes off. But it's better if you do.

~Patrick Marber

I mean when the play was on in New York I was starting to get film offers coming through, and since the film's come out I get offered more than I used to, but it happens incrementally.

~Patrick Marber

I think a tragedy is something where the natural order of things is completely interrupted and doesn't right itself.
